THREE ARMY PLANES ARRIVE AT SACRAMENTO

U. S. Suit Accuses Doheny Of Bribery

BRING ACTION TO CANCEL FEDERAL LEASES

Government Attorneys Start Fight In Los Angeles to Regain Oil Lands

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Bribery of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall by Edward L. Doheny was charged today by the government in filing a suit in the federal court to cancel the California oil leases of the Pan-American Petroleum company, obtained through Fall.

On the basis of testimony brought out in the Senate's oil investigation, the government's counsel, Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, declared that Doheny and Fall conspired to defraudu the United States through the leases and that Doheny paid Fall $100,000 for his services in giving the Pan-American company, of which Doheny is president, control over the oil-bearing lands in naval reserve No. 1.

What Suit Asks

The suit demanded the setting aside of the contracts made in April and December, 1922, for the erection of the naval fuel oil base at Pearl harbor, Hawaii, and to cancel another lease dated December 11, 1922, under which a certain portion of the Elk Hills is leased to the Pan-American Oil company. It was asked in the suit that:

1 An injunction against the Pan-American company drilling any new wells on the lease.

2 An injunction against the Pan-American operating the property until the case is finally determined.

3 A cancellation of the lease and a restoration of all the lands to the government without any right to the Pan-American company, and

4 The cancellation of the two contracts for the erection of storage and other facilities for the navy at Pearl harbor.

As in the suit filed last week in Cheyenne, Wyo., to cancel the Teapot Dome lease to Harry F. Sinclair, the government based its charge on illegality of the transaction on the ground that the executive order issued by the late President Harding on May 31, 1921, to give the secretary of the interior control of certain oil lands was without legal authority because it was obtained by Fall throgh representations which were "false and untrue."

"False and Untrue"

"The representations made by Fall, the government bill said,

FAMILY, TRAPPED BY FLAMES, DIES

Mother and Five Children Burned; Father's Rescue Efforts Futile

INDIANAPOLIS, March 17.—A mother and five children were trapped in their home and burned to death here today while the efforts of the husband and father to save them proved futile.

The dead are: Mrs. Susie Stovall, 41, colored; Nevada, 14; Darnell, 12; Lydia, 9; Cornell, 2, and Katherine, 2 months.

The family was sleeping in an upstairs room. Percy Stovall kicked out a window and stepped on the porch roof with the intention apparently of having the children handed to him. Before the plan could be carried out, flames swept the room.

Scheduled to Be Named Receivers In Lease Suit

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 17.—Admiral Harry Rosseau of the United States navy, and J. Crampon Anderson, president of the Pan-American Petroleum Transportation company, were scheduled to be nominated today as receivers in the government's suit to abrogate the Pan-American Elk Hills naval reserve oil leases.

Admiral Rosseau was to be nominated by the government and Anderson by the Doheny interests. It was expected that they would be named receivers by Federal Judge McCormick.

LINKS BURNS, DAUGHERTY, IN PLOT

Ex-Sleuth Furnishes Direct Conspiracy Evidence In Senate Probe

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Marked by bitter animosities and frequent verbal clashes, the senatorial investigation of the department of justice today followed tortuous trails of intrigue and alleged corruption that led finally to the department of justice.

Attorney-General Daugherty was drawn directly into an alleged conspiracy to transport films of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight into a score of states, in violation of the law, by Gerald F. Holdridge, a former department of justice agent.

Burns Involved

The connection, however, was second-hand, as Holdridge only swore to statements repeated to him by "Jap" Muma, Cincinnati newspaper man, and one of the alleged conspirators.

The trail of intrigue also involved William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation in Daugherty's department, and Burns was openly charged with transferring to foreign posts those of his agents who were "too active" in revealing the alleged film conspiracy.

Basing nearly all his testimony on conversations with Muma, Holdridge testified that:

1 Daugherty had sent Muma to Alfred R. Urion, a Washington lawyer, to "get things fixed."

2 That the films were shown at the home of E. B. McLean in Washington, with President Harding present.

3 That Muma conferred with Burns when department of justice agents "scared" him and later was "certain there would be more trouble."

4 That Agent Ralph Navarro, who "scared" Muma, was transferred to Haiti after Muma complained against him.

5 That he (Holdridge) was taken "off the case" after he told Burns that the evidence involved the attorney-general in the alleged conspiracy.

6 That the plan of transporting the films "required definite understandings with United States district attorneys and "advance information" on how federal judges would dispose of cases where arrests were made.

Testifying in a low voice, Holdridge revealed an "inside story" of the alleged film conspiracy as related to him by Muma. The story was climaxed by a flat declaration that Daugherty had told Muma:

"If you put this across you ought to get a big cut—not less than 50 per cent."

The session developed into a bitter controversy between Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, acting "prosecutor," and Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, in which the lat-

U. S. REFUSES WAR DEBTS REQUEST

Government Declines Plea From France to Enter International Agency

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The United States government today turned down a request from France for "establishment of an international coordinating agency" in this country for the adjustment of war debt and reparations.

The request, it was revealed, was originally made to this government in November, 1923, by Premier Poincare, in a note transmitted through the French embassy here and the American refusal was transmitted to the French government only this afternoon by Secretary of State Hughes after it had been determined that nothing could be accomplished by creating such a debt clearing house here under the direction of the world war debt funding commission.

JAP IMMIGRATION BILL UP IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The new immigration bill, re-drafted to meet in part the objections raised by Japan and Secretary of State Hughes, was introduced in the House this afternoon. The new bill retains the basic admission quota of 2 per cent of the 1890 census and protects the treaty rights of all nations in that no restrictions are placed on those desiring to come to the United States for business, commerce, trade and pleasure. It retains, however, that feature prohibiting entrance for permanent residence of aliens, (Japanese, Chinese and Hindus) not eligible for citizenship.

Combined Ages at 'Aunt Addie's' Party Total 1259 Years; Memories of Other Days Add to Pleasures of Social Time

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

One thousand two hundred and fifty-nine years were crowded into last Saturday afternoon, when old folks of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club were delightfully entertained by "Aunt Addie" Harter, 89 years old, and her sister, Mrs. C. M. Sparr, 79 years old, in their cozy little bungalow home at 234 South Jackson street.

Mrs. Adeline Harter, or "Aunt Addie," as her family and many friends have come to know her, is a cripple and has never been able to meet the Sunset club before, so Saturday was in the nature of a "get-acquainted" party, with "Aunt Addie" the oldest member of the club company.

Other club members present and their ages were: Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox, 86; Mrs. Della R. Stone, 87; Mrs. Sarah Ellen Plannette, 87; Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, 87; James F. Ireland, 82; Louis A. Heacock, 86; Rev. William G. Cowan, 85; A. H. Cleveland, 86; A. Morrison, 86; Dominic Minnie, 87.

Guests of Club

Special guests were Mrs. James F. Ireland, 74; Mrs. C. M. Sparr, 79; Mrs. Julina Hayes, 80; and Mrs. Addie L. Carter, 78.

Others present were Mrs. Sparr's son, W. S. Sparr, of Sparr Heights; Mr. and Mrs. I. N. East, Mrs. Jennie East, Mrs. Alice Boynton, Mrs. J. L. Simmons, Mrs. Rachael C. Newton of Glendale, and Mrs. Bess Snyder of Pasadena.

There were several new members welcomed to the club for the first time, and many of the familiar faces were missed and regrets expressed that all could not

TRACK FLASH WILL ENTER OLYMPIC

World's Fastest Human Is Eligible to Race In Contest at Paris

BOSTON, March 17.—Chas. W. Paddock, California sprinter, has been reinstated into the ranks of the A. A. U., William C. Prout, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, announced today.

The reinstatement of Paddock means he will be eligible to represent the United States at the Olympic games at Paris next summer, provided he is able to win a place at the tryouts June 14 in the Harvard stadium. Paddock is the holder of many sprint records.

Paddock's suspension dates back to last summer when he defied the A. A. U. and without its sanction engaged in a track meet in Paris.

Paddock in Training

Sir Charles William Paddock, world's fastest sprinter, certain of being reinstated in the A. A. U., is again in training.

Charlie has been home about a week and is gradually getting back into condition. The sprint flash has lost ten pounds. His injured leg is practically well and does not seem to bother him any more.

Run at Drake

The champ is scheduled to make his first appearance of the season in the Drake Relays on April 25 and 26 at the Iowa University in Des Moines. Then, on May 3rd, "the world's fastest human" will run in the University of Washington's annual relay carnival. Pad-

SHOWERS IN STATE ARE FORECAST

Rain Reported In Parts of California, Expecting More Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Giving high hopes that another "golden" rain might be in the offing to end drought conditions in many parts of the state, showers fell early today in widely separated sections of California.

A brisk shower fell in the bay region of San Francisco, some rain was reported at Santa Rosa, Colusa and Pomona, while snow fell on Mount Hamilton.

The weather bureau predicted unsettled conditions for almost the entire state, with prospects of further showers for Northern California, the San Joaquin valley and Southern California.

Hatfield at Work

The prospect of rain in the San Joaquin valley heighted the chances of Charles M. Hatfield, "rain maker," who has erected his shower "coaxing" towers near Coalinga. Cloudy weather prevailed in that section today and it was declared ideal by Hatfield for furtherance of his precipitation plans. He stands to win $8,000 if he produces four inches of rain for the farmers in that section.

The temperature will remain about the same, the weather bureau predicted, the cool wave which accompanied the showers lingering for at least another 24 hours.

Prepare For Rain

Umbrellas were dusted off and made ready to be put into use today by Glendale people as a light rain began falling in several sections of the city.

Showers and unsettled weather for tonight and tomorrow were predicted for Los Angeles by the weather man.

Shortly before noon the sun came out from behind rain clouds. Later the sky became cloudy again.

SANTA MONICA, March 17.—Amidst a flare of glory and a rousing cheer from a crowd of approximately 2000 people, three of the four army planes which will attempt to circle the globe, took off at 9:32 a. m. today. The fourth plane, piloted by Lieutenant Erik Nelson, did not accompany its three sister ships, but will probably leave tomorrow and overtake the others when they reach Seattle.

Lieutenant Nelson's plane is now at Rockwell field, San Diego, for compass swinging, but will be brought here today for the start tomorrow.

First to Hop Off

Plane No. 1 piloted by Major F. L. Martin, commander of the flight, was the first to take the air. The giant plane sped down the runway for 1,000 yards, where the course rises in a slight knoll and with two short skips was in the air at a speed estimated at 55 miles an hour.

Half a minute later and close on the heels of Major Martin, Lieutenant Wade in plane No. 3 sailed over the course and leaped into the air much the same as did Major Martin.

Lieutenant Smith, in plane No. 2 was delayed because of a heavy dust screen over the field caused by the start of Major Martin and Lieutenant Wade's planes, but he left the earth at 9:34 a. m.

As the first plane shot away from the starting line a cheer and noise from the people and automobiles went up that could be heard for two miles.

Five Birthdays

Especially enjoyable, in that it celebrated a family reunion as well as five birthday anniversaries, was the dinner at which Mrs. T. C. Stern presided at her home, 133 South Kenwood street, on Sunday.

The affair was given in the celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. O. J. Reel of Santa Maria, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dayhoss of Tulare and Dorothy and Earl Jodon of Glendale.

The table decorations were attractively carried out in a green and yellow color scheme. Jonquils and greenery were attractively arranged in a low bowl, forming the centerpiece for the dinner table. Clever St. Patrick's favors and place cards marked the guests' places. A large birthday cake beautifully decorated was the center of attraction.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dayhoss and Children, Irene and Arthur, of Tulare; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Reel of Santa Maria, and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Joden and children, Dorothy and Earl, of Glendale, and the hotess, Mrs. T. C. Stern.

FOES OF MERGER ARE VICTORIOUS

New Boundary Lines Exclude Business Houses, Take in Chicken Runs

Anti-incorporationists won the first round in the Tujunga-Sunland district when the county supervisors yielded to their requests to exclude certain parts of the territory originally proposed for incorporation of a city of the sixth class and continued the hearing on the question of calling an election until Monday, March 24, at 11 a. m. In the meantime a check will be made of the territory in the revised boundaries to determine the number of people residing therein and whether or not there is any acreage within the boundaries that should be excluded.

As the boundaries now stand the proposed city would not include the Tujunga school, post office, Legion hall and several stores and offices in part of the business district, but would include parts of several chicken ranches. The northern boundary is located 150 feet south of El Centro street and runs through several properties, one in particular being the poultry establishment of Miss Elizabeth Benedict, who was one of the Little Lands colonists. Miss Benedict's residence would be outside the city while her hen houses and runs would be inside the city limits, leaving her with a business in the city and a home in the country.

Return Phone Office

The eastern boundary is located 150 feet west of Haines Canyon road and excludes the territory named in the petitions presented to the supervisors, which is located in the north eastern section of Tujunga. All of the territory within the Monte Vista school district at Sunland was also excluded. This exclusion returns the office of the Sunland Rural Telephone Company to Sunland after it has just completed a new building in Tujunga and moved in. The building does not move, of course, but the address of the company would be Sunland again instead of Tujunga. While no official boundary has been heretofore recognized between Tujunga and Sunland it was generally considered that Walnut drive was the dividing line. The telephone office and exchange is located on Palm avenue and comes within the Sunland territory by the ruling of the supervisors.

Some undeveloped hill land will be included in the proposed boundaries, also Hillhaven tract, John Steven McGroarty's home and the Wells' home. The Begue ranch would be outside the limits.

Elections Expensive

Supervisor Bean stated during the hearing that he was opposed to the calling of incorporation elections every year as it imposes heavy expense on the tax payers. This will be the second election called in the Tujunga district within two years. The last election failed to carry. At that time a vote was also taken to select a mayor and John Steven McGroarty was returned a winner almost unanimously, and is still wondering when he shall begin to "mayor."

The last meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce was marked by low attendance and no new business was undertaken. The president, L. H. Fisher, stated that the directors had decided to investigate the plan of the county flood control engineer to spend $42,000,000 on flood control work with a view to determining whether or not the expenditure would benefit the Tujunga valley territory commensurate with the tax burden involved.

May Bore Tunnel

The plan to bore a tunnel from the Big Tujunga watershed to the Arroyo Secco will also be investigated to determine if there is any intention of diverting Tujunga water to a different section to the east.

Mr Fisher reported that the directors had secured a promise from Supervisor Wright to survey Monte Vista boulevard with a view to widening it from El Centro street north and making it a main thoroughfare into Big Tujunga canyon. This route has been advocated as the natural entrance to the canyon from the state highway running through Tujunga.

Announcement was made that Harry Zachau, Homer Rice, H. H. Breidt, M. F. Gilmer and Lloyd Foster have been named to act as advisers to the county fire warden in purchasing fire fighting equipment and the appointment of a fire chief to direct the work of fire protection in the newly formed Tujunga-Sunland fire district.

Charles Baird has promised to address the chamber of commerce on Community Building on the evening of April 8 at Legion hall.

A clean-up day will be held next Tuesday by the Tujunga Woman's club for the purpose of removing the rocks from their lot on San Ysidro street where they are to start building a new club house soon. The members of the club will serve a hot lunch at noon to all men who respond to the invitation to help.

Visit Kiwanis Club

A delegation of Tujunga Kiwanians attended the Eagle Rock charter presentation Friday night and contributed several songs to the program, some of the songs being the work of two Tujunga members. George Buck was elected at a recent meeting to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Second Vice-President J. M Goode, who resigned on account of ill health. E. A. Miller was elected to replace Leo Smith as director, Mr. Smith having been recently elected district trustee.

Members of the Tujunga American Legion post and Auxiliary have arranged a program of promise for their St Patrick's day dance today, March 17, at Legion hall on Sunset boulevard. The Irish reel and sailors' hornpipe will feature and the hall will be decorated with appropriate non-throwable decorations. No confetti weighing more than one-half of one per cent will be tossed.

Mrs. D. J. Warnick will be hostess at a silver tea to be given at the home of Mrs. King, 132 North Stevens Way, this afternoon. An entertainment has been prepared and the proceeds will go to the building fund of the Women's club.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Ellison-White Company Set May 14 to 21 as Time, Bigger Program

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, and prominent Chautauqua worker, announced this morning that the date for the local Chautauqua had been set by the Ellison-White company as May 14 to 21, inclusive.

"The Ellison-White company states that the coming season will witness the presentation of the strongest program in Glendale's Chautauqua history," said Rev. Cole this morning.

The program, according to the information sent out by the company, is exceptionally well balanced and substantial. As contrasted with last year, there will be six lecturers instead of four and a large professional company in light opera, instead of a band. The play to be presented will be one, they say, that has never before been in Glendale, either on the legitimate stage or on the screen.

Many On Program

There are sixty-two people on the program this year, against fifty-five in 1923, and it is costing the company exactly $100 per day more in salaries than last year.

The local guarantors are enthusiastic over the prospects of a fine Chautauqua. They urge that everyone in the community let no other event stand in the way of making this a real success.

PITCHMAN PICKS UP QUARTERS AS WHISTLES SELL

Follower of Age-Old Trade Uses Modern Devices to Get Crowd

The unusual sight of modern-day equipment being used to attract a crowd while the owner followed an age-old profession greeted theater-goers and late shoppers in Glendale last night, when persons who stopped to investigate and listened to music furnished by radio found themselves face to face with a suave, smooth-talking pitchman of the old school.

The pitchman's stand was in an alley off Broadway not far from Brand boulevard. His stock consisted of tin whistles, "guaranteed to provide amusement for young and old alike, at a nominal cost and a minimum amount of effort."

Pitchmen, or "tripes," as they are known in the world of the big tops and carnival life, are rare in Glendale, although many make their headquarters in Los Angeles. During the summer season they follow circuses, carnivals or street fairs, any place where there is likely to be a crowd.

Origin of Names

They "pitch" their little stand, or set up their tripod with a small suitcase as a top, as near the main entrance as circus owners will allow them. From their activities and methods of establishing themselves anywhere come the names of "pitchmen" and "tripes."

In the winter time, or off months for fairs and circuses, the pitchmen operate in store doors, vacant buildings, on street corners, alongside curbs, in stairways, or anywhere they can set their tripod or table and get a crowd without being chased out by the police.

Card tricks, magician's stunts and clever, fast talking are depended upon by the pitchmen to attract a crowd, but Glendale's roving visitor last night used a new method—a complete radio receiving set mounted on the back of an automobile, with the loud speaker on top. The people came to listen and stayed to buy.

After tuning in a station and catching the strains of an orchestra, the pitchman turned to his crowd. With one hand he pulled out plugs and turned knobs on the receiving set, while the other hand held aloft a small bit of shaped tin.

"The marvel of the age, folks," he started. The psychological moment had arrived. His long experience told him his listeners were listening. "Nothing like it anywhere else in the world."

Starts "Lecture"

Then he spent fifteen minutes telling them he was not going to take up their time with a long address or description of "the marvel of the age." Not once during this time had he mentioned the little tin whistle held in his closed palm. Then he produced it in full sight.

"This is it, folks. This is the marvel of the age. With it you can play any tune you hear over the radio, just as you have heard it here tonight. So simple a child can operate it. Furnish fun and amusement for all. A scientific invention, produced after years of study and experiment, offered for the first time at a nominal sum. Complete instructions for using furnished with each article sold. A world of fun for 25 cents, a quarter of a dollar. Thank you, my dear sir. Now, who's next? The marvel of the age. Nothing like it anywhere else in the world."

CLUBS ORGANIZE TO BATTLE DRUG TRAFFIC IN U. S.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll Named Region Chairman to Gather Data

Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 415 Kenneth road, president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, has been appointed regional chairman for California, Oregon, Arizona, and New Mexico, to organize the work in the anti-narcotic campaign planned by the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Elmer Blair of New York, public welfare and anti-narcotic committee chairman, asks the six regional chairmen she has chosen, to appoint a state chairman to assist in a correlation of facts pertaining to state laws and their observance, having to do with drug control.

Work With U. S.

As outlined, the campaign will include cooperation with the government plan of international control of narcotics at the source of supply; requests to Congress that it name a congressional committee to study all phases of the drug evil and to make a report of its findings, and the launching of a campaign in every community for the purpose of teaching in schools, factories and other places where children and workers gather, of the dangers of the use of narcotics.

In the beginning the work will be confined to the sea-coast, Great Lakes, and frontier states as these are deemed most important as affording ports of entry and points of communication for both importation and exportation of raw materials and their derivatives.

Mrs. Blair asks that each chairman begin at once to secure information concerning the illicit use of habit-forming drugs and the means used to combat it.

DISCUSS FUTURE AT BOOSTER MEET

First Get-Together Event Is Held at Pavilion, Urge New Switchboard

Saturday night Verdugo City held its first get-together pleasure event in the Whiting pavilion, the use of which had been granted by Mr. Whiting as a courtesy to H. W. Fowler and Verdugo City residents. Preceding the dancing many noted speakers talked to the assembly on co-operation, the telephone, good roads, and other vital questions. Mr. Zacker, assistant manager to Mr. Powley, chief engineer, spoke on good roads.

Fred Deal of the telephone company informed the people if they desired an exchange of their own, a signed petition would get action as soon as possible. Mr. Deal also spoke on the commercial value of a local Kiwanis club. President J. Brown of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, gave a talk on co-operation in which he stressed the value of each part working together as a whole.

Mr. Whiting gave an address of welcome to all who were present, as the pavilion stands on his private property. A tremendous crowd was present, over 100 cars being parked in the grounds at one time. A flashlight picture was taken of the dancers, of whom there were over 40.

The realty firm of Chas. Easton and Son and J. C. Perkins are having the house on the Honolulu avenue property moved back to make room for a new brick building. A firm is already reported to have arranged to lease the new building.

A local Montrose realty dealer has purchased the 25-foot lot which adjoins the Cobb grocery. The property was the easterly half of Dr. Karr's frontage. The new owner, Mr. Harvard, will probably hold it for investment. Dr. Karr expects to move his residence onto his new holdings in the Fowler tract and convert all his Honolulu avenue property into business lots.

TELLS IDOLATRY IN JEWISH NATION

M. E. Bible Class Studies History of Hebrews In Earlier Periods

The men's Bible study class of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday took up the subject of the long struggle of the children of Israel with idolatry, under the tutorship of the Rev. Edward Hoskyn, their teacher. There were several new members admitted to the class and the attendance reflected the influence of the monthly meeting held on Friday evening. Hereafter all business of the class will be done at the monthly meeting and the entire study hour each week will be devoted to the lesson. At the meeting Friday J. T. Bruss was chosen director of the devotional exercises of the class, succeeding B. F. Geiger, resigned.

In the discussion of the lesson by Rev. Hoskyn and the class members the conditions surrounding the seven tribes which had entered the promised land were considered at length. The teacher brought out the fact that the Phoenicians, who were at that time in possession of the land of Canaan, were a highly civilized people, having walled cities, art galleries, museums, schools, colleges, and were most highly successful in agriculture and other evidences of a superior people. The command of Jehovah that these people should be displaced was not an order for extermination by war, but was to be the result of influence by the power of God and the Godlike conduct of the new peoples—the seven tribes of Israelites.

Low Moral Tone

The worship of idols had brought about a degeneracy of moral standards, and the courts of the Phoenicians were hotbeds of licentious living, it was said, and, though the people were rich in this world's goods, and had every opportunity to establish the highest standards, the tendency was to a lower life and steadily lowering of morals. It was easy for the children of Israel to fall into the ways of the Phoenicians, and they soon began to abandon the worship of the true God and found themselves bowing before the god of Baal, the god of production, and the female god Astoria, the god of fruitfulness. And thus they worshipped for full four hundred and fifty years. There were among them, however, true worshippers of the living God, and these erected their temples and worshipped there. The teachings of Abraham, Moses, Samuel, Joshua, and others of the truly great men of Israel, held them steadfast in the faith, but with the great multitude of the Jewish people it required persecution and trouble to bring them to repentance.

The teacher then made a practical application of the lesson to the world of today. The idols men are now worshipping—money, power, ambition, social distinction, political preferment—were each referred to, and apt illustrations given by reference to the news of the day.

UNITY URGED BY IRISH PRESIDENT

St. Patrick's Day Message Is Issued by Cosgrave To Erin's Sons

DUBLIN, March 17.—President William T. Cosgrave today addressed, through International News Service, a message to all Irishmen and women throughout the world appealing to them to assist in establishing peace and unity throughout the Free State. The message follows:

"In honoring St. Patrick's day, Irishmen and women proclaim the unity of their race, of which St. Patrick is the symbol. Upon this recurrence of his festival, let us pray that the spirit of St. Patrick's teachings may form our deliberations and regulate our actions so that the differences of opinion may always be discussed without rancor, as they may be adjusted without violence.

Welcomes Old Foes

"Only thus can we hope that the wounds that have been inflicted upon our country can be healed. Now that the heat of conflict has abated, those who, from honest motives, opposed the government without hindrance from the government, should now be convinced of the necessity of dropping their attitude of hostility and of putting their shoulders to the wheel, working with their fellow countrymen for the regeneration and rebuilding of the nation. To all of such we extend a welcoming hand.

"We extend the hand of welcome also to our separated countrymen in the northeast in the hope that misunderstandings of the past may be cleared away and that a real community of interests and of spirit may be realized and brought into effect. To them we speak once more in the words of the poet, 'We are one at heart and if you be Ireland's friend, there are but two parties in the end.'"

By "countrymen in the northeast," President Cosgrave referred to the residents of Ulster province who refused to accept the Free State and have their own independent government.

were to the effect that said order was proper, necessary and for the best interests of the government of the United States and the public, all of which representations were false, fraudulent and untrue, and at the time known to Fall as false and untrue, and were made by Fall, not in good faith and for the benefit of the public interest, but for the unlawful purpose of enabling him to effect a fraudulent transfer of rights in said lands to defandants.

"Subsequent to the making of the said order, Fall and Doheny did combine, confederate and conspire to defraud the United States. . . . Pursuant to said conspiracy it was agreed and arranged between Fall and Doheny that in the event certain rights were threatened in defendants, Fall was to receive certain rewards from Doheny and he did in fact receive certain rewards from Doheny in consideration for his unlawful conduct in the furtherance of said conspiracy.

"On or about November 30, 1921, in furtherance of the conspiracy between Fall and Doheny, Doheny did pay unto Fall that certain reward theretofore promised him, to-wit, the sum of $100,000 lawful money of the United States of America.

"With respect to the contract under which Doheny was to construct fuel oil storage facilities at Pearl harbor, Hawaii, for the navy department in return for oil taken from the California lease, the government charges that this agreement was negotiated and consummated in such a way that competitive bidding was impossible, pursuant to the conspiracy above set forth."

BACKSLIDERS ARE SCORED BY COLE

8000 Church Members In City of Glendale, Says Pastor In Sermon

"Glendale is a city of 'backsliders,' declared Rev. Clifford A. Cole in a sermon on the subject of 'Backsliding' last night at the Central Christian church.

"On the conservative estimate that in such a city as this at least every other person has been or is a member of some church, there should be about 25,000 persons in this class," said Mr. Cole. "There are not over 8,000 members of churches in Glendale or who attend churches in Los Angeles from here. That indicates that one-third of the population of this fair city has been once members of the church 'back East' and has fallen by the way so far as fidelity to Christ and the church is concerned. A backslider is one who abandons gradually the faith and practice of religion once professed, one who neglects his vows of obedience and falls into sin. A backslider may be led to repentance and find mercy and pardon; but if he die in his sin and disloyalty, in his impenitent condition, certainly there is little hope for his salvation."

After discussing some of the causes that lead to an abandonment of allegiance to Christ and the Church, causes that lead men away in every place and every age, the particular sources of so-called backsliding in California were laid upon the hearts of the hearers.

Same Old Excuse

"A nearly universal statement of those who should take a stand in this community for the church is that they are not certain as to how long they will remain in this country," said the preacher. "I have talked to scores who have lived here for years who palm off the same excuse after these years. None of us knows how long he will stay here. That doesn't deter us from sending our children to school here and from engaging in everything else here. The lure of pleasure and of money-making has gradually led tens of thousands away from the faith and practice of their religion. Church membership has been the very last thing they have thought of in breaking away from the old home and in coming to a new land. The lightness with which so many hold the sacred ties of church membership is pathetic.

"We sometimes speak of Glendale as a city of churches. There is scarcely a city I could name that is so poorly churched. Eight thousand members in a city of 50,000 souls in a purely American city is an alarming situation. The fact that thousands who have come here within the last two or three years still have a semi-relationship to the church, although not loyal enough to line up and give a lift here in Glendale, preserves the city from wickedness and lowering morals. A few years and these will become apostates to the faith unless they renew their consecration and we shall find a [illegible] will scarcely be [illegible] loyalty to Glendale and its churches to get in and lend a hand in this city where they are sojourning to make money or for climate or pleasure are certainly not doing the will of God. They make it much harder for loyal men and women to make an impact on the city's life and morals.

"Glendale is a city of backsliders and the sooner we take recognition of it and bring men to account for the stewardship the less we will have to suffer in the days to come. We beg every person who has his membership

FLYERS OFF ON WORLD JOURNEY

Three Planes Start From Santa Monica; Fourth to Leave Tomorrow

Major Martin, stood up in his rear seat and looking back at the crowd waved a last farewell. The plane first gained an altitude of several hundred feet by circling over Clover field and then headed northward to Sacramento—their first objective of the long flight.

Decision to make the flight today and not postpone it until tomorrow, or probably a week later, was made by Major Martin after conferring with Los Angeles weather officials, who reported that he possibly would encounter overcast skies throughout the hop to Sacramento, but that they believed he could make it. They also told him the weather outlook for tomorrow was worse than today.

Report Heavy Fog

Before this a scout plane was sent over the Tehachapi mountains to observe weather conditions there. The pilot of the plane brought back the report that a heavy fog was encountered at 7,000 feet. But Major Martin was not to be daunted by such a thing as inclement weather and after discussing the situation briefly with the weather experts, gave the order at 9:15 a. m. that the flight would start within 15 minutes and it started exactly 17 minutes later.

Before starting Major Martin said that unless the most hazardous weather conditions were encountered they would not turn back.

Immediately after the fliers took off fifteen other army and navy planes, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel William E. Gillmore, air service officer of the Ninth corps area, followed closely behind them as an escort on their initial jump to Sacramento, 12 of these will go into San Francisco, without touching Sacramento. Five additional planes took off with the world cruisers, but went to San Diego, their base. A few of these planes, it was stated, would accompany the globe-circlers to Seattle.

70 Miles Per Hour

As the planes left it was stated the route to Sacramento would be first over the Tehachapi mountains, and then up the San Joaquin valley via Bakersfield, Fresno, Merced and other valley points. They expect to average seventy miles an hour on this stated that Mrs. Kirk seemed very weary after their foreign travel and was compelled to remain in bed the greater part of the trip across the Atlantic.

In a letter from New York last week, Mr. Kirk wrote Mr. Ragland that they had reached the Pennsylvania hotel and that he was greatly worried over Mrs. Kirk's condition. In a later letter he stated that she was somewhat improved.

Mattie L. Ragland was born in Lebanon, Tennessee, 63 years ago. When she was a small girl her family moved to Waco, Texas, where her father was engaged in the jewelry business. It was in Texas that she and Mr. Kirk were married.

Nebraska Residents

For many years the Kirks lived in Lincoln, Neb., and fifteen years ago came to California, residing on East Broadway, Glendale.

Mrs. Kirk is survived by her husband and daughter, Agnes Marie, and by three brothers, C. E. Ragland of Los Angeles; Dr. W. B. Ragland of Waco, Texas, and Oscar Ragland of Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk took active parts in social and church affairs both in Lincoln, Nebraska, and in Glendale. They were members of the Central Christian church here, and Mr. Kirk's name is prominent in the development of the city.

Mrs. Kirk had never had robust health and this kept her from taking any active interest in many causes near to her heart. Early last year she was sick for a time and their European trip was delayed several months because it was necessary for her to undergo an operation.

Rev. Clifford A. Cole will officiate at the funeral Thursday, the hour of which is to be announced by the L. G. Scozzari undertaking company.

Oakmont Country Club Opening Brilliant Event

MORE THAN 600 PERSONS AT DEDICATION DINNER

Elaborate Menu Wins Praise; Entertainment And Dance Please; Officers and Directors Bid Welcome Amid Scenes of Gaiety

Amid scenes of brilliance and gaiety such as have seldom, ever, been equaled in Glendale, 612 covers were served at e formal opening of the Oakmont Country club Saturday ght, March 15, at the beautiful new English-type clubhouse Sparr Heights, the great throng of members and their ests including not only scores of men and women prominent the business and social life of the city but many from Los ngeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and surrounding points.

Harry E. Hall, president of the b, carried off with ease the difult honor of master of cereonies, making every one in the eat throng feel at home from e very start. He was ably asted by J. R. Thorpe, publicity nager, and Harry Ellison, use manager, who not only proied an excellent banquet but fered an entertainment of high libre, headed by the Glen Hood chestra, from Camp Curry, semite, who played through the nner and later furnished snappy nce music.

Attractive Decorations

A color scheme of pink and ite sweetpeas in green bowls nded with the dull green of the eat rough-hewn rafters in the ing room and lounge of the kmont Country club, creating nodified St. Patrick's day motif t was peculiarly appropriate to e season.

A charming number was introced by Misses Helen and Ruth yre and Miss May Orcutt, all of endale and just returned from long engagement over the Oreum circuit, who sang old-fashned melodies, among them any quaint southern songs, ressed in costumes of long ago.

Edward Skeddon, who was intrumental in launching the Oakont Country club and is now enaged on a similar project in Monovia, then sang two numbers in rich baritone voice, accompaied on the piano by Mrs. keddon.

Make Brief Talks

By this time the elaborate meal ad been rounded out with istachio ice cream in pink bisque ea-shells and President Hall was troducing the officers and dictors of the Oakmont Country ub.

Roy L. Kent, vice-president, id he was happy indeed to see many members present on the emorable occasion and told em it would be a successful ub only as they patronized it.

A. R. Eastman, treasurer, told e members it was their club d the management was eager to rve them, that it would prosper proportion as it was used.

A. L. Baird, Dr. T. C. Young, rancis J. W. Henry, W. W. Worry and Godfrey Edwards, all dictors, each spoke briefly, stressg various angles of the launchg the club and its significance the members and to Glendale.

Receives Praise

Mr. Edwards, one of the conacting firm that built the Oakont Country club, particularly rasied the work of Charles Cressy of the architectural departent, Roy L. Kent company, who rew the plans.

Following the remarks by the fficers and directors, the dining oom and lounge were cleared and ncing was then enjoyed until idnight, with many beautifully wned women on the floor and e sparkle of jewels adding to e brilliance of the occasion, hich took on a cosmopolitan atosphere.

Even to attempt an enumeration of the Glendale people who were present would be like going through the directory and selecting the names of prominent residents. Practically every organization in the city was represented by several members.

When the last strains of "Home, Sweet Home" wafted across the ballroom and ebbed out the windows and off the starry Verdugo hills, the silence was at once filled with a sharper sound, staccato, crisp on cool night air, as literally hundreds of motors began tuning up their engines, filing down the curving driveway to Canada boulevard and Verdugo road.

Another milepost in Glendale's eventful history had been passed.

Prominent Citizens Meet At Dinner Tables

STRUCTURE INSPECTED

Visitors, Greeted by Directors, Praise Appointments

Several hundred people visited the Oakmont Country club Sunday afternoon as guests of the management, inspecting the picturesque English-type clubhouse and the spacious grounds, reports Harry Ellison, house manager.

The Glen Hood orchestra from Camp Curry in the Yosemite valley, the same aggregation of musicians who furnished the harmony for Saturday night's formal opening dinner and dance, played intermittently throughout the afternoon.

Punch and sandwiches were served and the large number of Glendalians and visitors from Montrose, La Crescenta and other nearby sections enjoyed greatly this opportunity to survey the many social and recreational features offered the members of the club.

Welcome Guests

Several of the officers and directors were present and greeted the visitors, including President Harry E. Hall, A. L. Baird and Dr. D. C. Young. All who walked out on the long east veranda were much impressed with the sweeping view of the Verdugo valley to be had from that point, looking out over the broad golf links, now nearing completion and greening up beautifully, under the influence of the recent rains and the giant sprinklers at work.

The visitors went through the clubhouse, surveying the dining room and lounge, which Saturday night were thrown together to accommodate the immense throng that gathered for the formal opening, and visiting the men's grill, locker rooms, billiard room, kitchens, showers, dressing rooms, swimming pool and in fact practically every facility possessed by the immense building.

They went away convinced that in the Oakmont Country club, Glendale has an institution of which the entire Southwest may be proud and which will advertise this city afar.

Members Dine

Dinner was served Sunday night for some seventy-five members and their guests, Mr. Ellison reports, when for the first time the club settled into somewhat of the ordinary social routine it will follow. Those who dined were well pleased with the fare provided and afterward enjoyed a quiet evening getting acclimated to their new environment. It was, in brief, an informal "house-warming" party, following the great formal affair of Saturday night, and marked the Oakmont Country club as a homey, comfortable place where members and their friends will in future spend many pleasant hours.

Social And Civic Asset To Aid Development Of Glendale In Coming Years

The greater Glendale of tomorrow can point back with pride to the already great Glendale of today for many splendid achievements, but none more monumental or enduring than completion on March 15, 1924, of the Oakmont Country club, organized in August, 1922, and started in January, 1923, after a bond issue of $150,000 had been heavily over-subscribed in sixty days.

Today the club has a roster of over 500 members, more than many of the best country clubs attain after several years of effort. Tomorrow, when Glendale shall have become a citadel 200,000 strong, at the gateway to the San Fernando valley, the Oakmont Country club will be among its greatest civic and social assets, offering members and their friends superb recreational advantages, including golf, tennis, swimming, horsemanship and hiking.

Renewal Charter

The officers of the club have builded unselfishly and well. Organized as a cooperative nonprofit corporation, under the laws of the state of California, the Oakmont Country club has a renewal charter for fifty years, under the terms of which it is stipulated that for at least twenty years the property shall be used for no other purpose than as a golf and country club, this to assure members that their investment can never get into the hands of the real estate subdivider, as has been the history of some clubs.

Located in the center of the great Sparr Heights section of the Verdugo valley, with the green Verdugo hills towering on three sides, the Oakmont Country club is swept at all times by the most refreshing breezes, cool in summer and balmy in winter. Car lines lead past the property and automobile boulevards run right to the doors. Being only four miles from Glendale proper and but twelve miles from the center of metropolitan Los Angeles, the club is seen to possess to a marked degree one of the prime attributes of a popular country club—accessibility combined with an exclusive and beautiful location.

The clubhouse itself, of early English design, is already being referred to by men familiar with such matters as one of the most striking country clubs in the west. While there may be more costly structures, none could have been better arranged for comfort than the Oakmont Country club, designed by Charles Cressey of the architectural department of the Roy L. Kent company, Glendale. Being himself an Englishman, Mr. Cressey lent to his work an intimate knowledge of the type of structure he planned.

Parker Is Manager

H M. Parker, general manager of the Oakmont Country club, has been one of the prime movers behind its success, carrying all the diverse factors forward into a unified and complete whole, with rare executive ability, from the very first

Harry Ellison, the genial house manager of the Oakmont Country club, has had many years' experience in this work and members are assured of courteous and efficient service at all times, together with a cuisine that will be offered at reasonable prices and of unexcelled quality. This one item alone will tend to make the club a meeting place and many parties have been booked for the near future.

J. R. Thorpe of Waltona drive, Montrose, proprietor of the Oakmont Saddle stables, which will supply thoroughbred mounts to members and their friends, is another prime mover back of the club. His stables are among the fines in Southern California and the service he will offer includes expert instruction in riding.

Elmer Holland, a golf professional, has been retained by the Oakmont Country club to instruct members in the intricacies of that popular game. He is considered one of the best golf experts in Southern California.

Too much cannot be said for the present board of directors of the Oakmont Country club, who without compensation have devoted time, brains and money to make this one of the finest institutions of its kind to be found anywhere. All of these men are successful in the business and professional life of the city and number among them many of the most prominent men in Glendale.

Many Glendalians

The president of the Oakmont Country club is Harry E. Hall, well known automobile man and capitalist; vice-president, Roy L Kent, contractor, realty operator and pioneer business man of the city; secretary-treasurer, A R Eastman, president of the Glendale State bank, president of the Peoples' Finance & Thrift company and an officer of many other local financial, civic and social organizations; and the following directors: A L. Baird, president of the Valley Mortgage & Finance company; Dr. T. C. Young, prominent in the Glendale Research hospital and in general professional practice; Francis J. W. Henry, head of the Sierra Beverage company; Godfrey Edwards, head of the firm of Edwards, Wildey & Dixon, pioneer realty and contracting firm; and W. W. Worley, well known furniture manufacturer.

The roster of over 500 members of the Oakmont Country club includes many people prominent not only in Glendale but in Hollywood, Los Angeles, Pasadena and other points, and it is expected by General Manager H. M. Parker that within a few months the entire membership of 750 will be completed

The pictures, snapped by flashlight during the great banquet that marked the opening of the Oakmont Country club Saturday night, indicate the immense throngs who gathered there to pay homage to the completion of Glendale's new and beautiful social magnet—a magnet of such power that among the hundreds of people present were many socially prominent in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and other points, including men who are leaders in practically every field of endeavor, their formal dress contrasting vividly with the beautiful gowns and flashing jewels of scores of women who lead in their world as well. Superb music, excellent food, perfect service, splendid entertainment, short, crisp talks from the officers and directors, then two hours of dancing on a floor like glass—all contributed to make the opening of the Oakmont Country club a social affair Glendale and Los Angeles county will long remember.

be present for the enjoyable informal social time.

"Aunt Addie" has long been anticipating the visit from the club and for their pleasure she had framed a picture made by her father over 100 years ago. It was a picture of the fruit basket that used to sit on the dining table in her childhood home. Her guests were also interested in another picture, one of her father made by himself as he stood before a mirror.

During the afternoon "Aunt Addie" told of other treasures she possesses, one being a linen tablecloth for which her mother planted the flax and finally wove the cloth.

The club members were delighted to welcome Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, who was unable to be at the last meeting. In his usual informal manner Mr. Gillette greeted his friends and entertained them with a poem on Glendale and an old-time ballad, "My Name It is Joe Bowers." Later he sang "Come to the Sunset Tree."

Tells of Gettysburg Meet

Rev. William G. Cowan is a club member whose presence is always a great inspiration. Regardless of the fact that he is now past 85 years of age, Mr. Cowan is full of life and spirit and is an eloquent speaker. On Saturday he gave a most interesting account of attending, during the Wilson administration, the encampment of 72,000 Union and Confederate veterans of the Civil war on the field of Gettysburg. "It was the greatest demonstration of peace the world has ever seen," declared Mr. Cowan. Mr. Cowan's name is inscribed on the Pennsylvania monument, one of the highest monuments on Gettysburg.

The club members were also greatly pleased to have Mrs. Della R. Stone recite some poems that her father learned over 100 years ago and later taught her. She gave "Woodman, Spare That Tree," and another one.

Reads Two Poems

A. H. Cleveland, a member of the club, gave his "Old Times for New," by request, and later another poem.

Assisting with the program was Mrs. Simmons, who gave two readings, and Mrs. Snyder, who played for the singing of "America."

Mrs. Alice Boynton, one of the guests of the afternoon, is the daughter of the late Ezekiel McCall, one of the charter members of the club, and she took occasion to thank the club for the courtesy the club extended her family by adjourning a meeting at the time of Mr. McCall's funeral.

Late in the afternoon ice cream, cakes and candies were served.

Evans Delivers Two Stirring Addresses

A record crowd was in attendance at both services held at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday by Dr. William Evans.

He delivered a forceful address at the morning service on "The Fool," which was greatly appreciated by the large congregation. During the evening service he delivered an address on "Where Do We Go from Here?" or "When We Are Dead," in a convincing manner which held the undivided attention of all present.

The subject tonight at 7:30 o'clock will be "Jesus and Divorce." Dr. Evans has a message tonight which will be of interest to everyone.

Every afternoon this week with the exception of Saturday, a service will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock by Dr. Evans, who will speak on the gospel according to John.

Lower Lake Klamath Good for Waterfowl

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—The State Fish and Game Commission is heading a campaign to secure re-establishment of the lower Lake Klamath breeding grounds for waterfowl.

According to President Frank Newbert of the commission, the lower lake breeding grounds were the finest in the state until destroyed on the theory that the lake bed could be transformed into valuable agricultural lands. According to Newbert, the ground has proven strongly alkali and only a small portion is under cultivation.

Game commission officials assert that 1,000,000 ducks are slaughtered in California each season, and that with the continual draining of marsh areas, breeding grounds are being destroyed to such an extent as to menace the future game supply.

State Forester Would Curb Careless Smokers

SACRAMENTO, March 17 — Among the measures which will confront the legislators at the next session will be one sponsored by State Forester H. B. Pratt providing that all motor vehicles used in California must be equipped with receptacles for cigaret and cigar stubs.

Penalties will be attached for non-compliance with a provision forbidding smokers from throwing lighted tobacco in any form from machines.

The state forester added that he had endorsed the request of Los Angeles business men that 500 federal troops be placed on duty in the national forests during the coming summer. Governor Richardson also has been asked to permit the use of national guardsmen as fire fighters if needed.

Modify Quarantines on California Cattle

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 17.—Three states—Oregon, Utah, and Idaho have wired the state department of agriculture here they have either modified their quarantines against Cailfornia resulting from the foot and mouth disease or are about to take such action.

Governor Moore of Idaho informed the department his state has modified its embargo to permit shipment of baby chicks. A wire from Governor Walter M. Pierce of Oregon said that state plans to prohibit the import of stocks from the state only to the north of Oregon.

Burrs on trees, caused by a blow on the bark or by punctures of insects, when large, prettily mark the wood and make it popular for furniture and cabinet work.

Board Attacks Klan

SANTA ANA, Mar. 17.—The possibility of a Ku Klux war loomed here when the local school board adopted a resolution condemning Dr. Roy S. Horton, a board member, for his alleged activities in the Klan. The specific charge against Dr. Horton is that he fostered membership in the hooded fraternity among school teachers and executives.

Following an effort to have newspaper representatives ejected from the board session, Dr. Horton charged the board with "monkeying with a buzz saw," and said the Ku Klux Klan would elect its own school board at the next election, the same as it intends to do in "every other city in America, until it takes charge of the government, as well."

As a result of his asserted activity in the Klan's behalf, Dr. Horton expects to have presented to him a chevron for his uniform."

Plan Elegant House

MONTECITO, Mar. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. William P. Nelson, of the Cudahy family, are building a $200,000 home here, claimed by architects to be one of the most elaborate mansions on the Pacific coast.

They purchased the property last year and have given up a trip abroad and arranged to stay in Santa Barbara this year in order to watch the construction of the building which will be their year-around home.

Arthur Heun, the Chicago architect who designed the Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr., place on Palm Avenue, Montecito, has designed the Nelson home and is now at El Encanto arranging with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson for the commencing of construction.

Mrs. William P. Nelson's nieces, Miss Edna and Marie Cudahy, daughters of Jack Cudahy of Pasadena were prominent exhibitors at the Santa Barbara horse show last week.

Eliminate Bad Turns

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 17.—Reconstruction work on the coast highway between Los Angeles and this city involves widening sixteen miles of paving and elimination of six bad turns, according to announcement of the Automobile Club of Southern California. It is expected that the big job of reconstruction will be ended by next July. Simultaneously work of finishing the paving on the inland route to San Diego is proceeding and, barring the unforseen, this circle route to the southern metropolis will be ready for the peak load of motor tourists which annually come in midsummer.

Approximately $1,000,000 will be spent on these two highways.

Called Second Paddock

EL CENTRO, Mar. 17.—Imperial valley cinder-track fans are hailing Kenneth Grumbles of the U. of S. C., a local boy, as the certain successor to Charlie Paddock as the fleetest sprinter of the day. A vear ago Grumbles was unknown. Last week he came within two-fifths of a second of the world's record for the 400-meter low hurdles. Like Paddock, Grumbles has baffled college coaches. He does everything wrong. His stride is poor, he slows up on every hurdle, and his start is in appalling form. But these f aults to the contrary, Grumbles is the most phenomenal prospect since Paddock emerged from Pasadena High school.

Bird Carries Note

PASADENA, Mar. 17.—The mystery of the "love pigeon" which fluttered wearily into the lofts of W. B. Wilson, of Santa Barbara, has been solved. It is the property of J. E. McArthur of this city. The bird had every appearance, when its long flight ended, of having endured a severe buffeting and it is thought it was aloft during the days when the recent storms raged up and down the coast. Following is the mystifying message the bird bore: "Darling Gladys:

I send you much love; Marjorie and Bess here with Father and Mother. They all send much love to you and Bruce.

Stanley, Bess and Aunty."

New State Library to Be Dedicated March 26

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Dedication of the $2,000,000 state library building of the capitol extension group, immediately facing the capitol on the west side of Tenth street, between L and N streets, will take place under Masonic auspices on the afternoon of March 26, it was announced today by State Librarian Milton J. Ferguson.

Arthur Crites of Bakersfield, grand master of the Masons, will officiate. Governor Friend W. Richardson and Chief Justice C. D. Wilbur of the Supreme Court also will take part in the ceremonies.

Inventor Sues Shell Oil Co. for Refining

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Said to mark probably institution of similar suits against all oil companies operating in the United States, suit was filed in federal court here by attorneys for Frank Navin, Salt Lake inventor, against the Shell Oil company of California for $25,000,000. Infringemets of patents for removing oil from oil sands is alleged in the suits. Inasmuch as it is understood the same process is in general use by nearly all oil companies, the aggregate damages claimed by Navin will run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Boy Back on Right Road Guided by Law

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Declaring that 17-year-old Joe Farren, who has been confined in the county jail one year awaiting trial on a charge of bringing a stolen automobile from Montana to California, has been punished enough, Judge John S. Partridge in the United States District Court today dismissed the charge and gave the youth $20 to assist him in returning to his home in Butte, Montana.

Assistant District Attorney Garton Kingston added $10 to the fund, a federal narcotic agent added $5, a deputy added $2, and United States Marshal Burnham, who arrested the youth twelve months ago, took him down to the station and paid his fare to Ogden, Utah.

Farren was overjoyed at the outcome. He promised to tread the straight and narrow path in the future, and, after listening to the kindly advice given by Judge Partridge, exclaimed:

"I never thought that officers were like these guys. From now on I am for the law and if I knew officers were so kind I would never have done what I did. I always figured everybody was against me, but it's different now, see?"

Oriental Students at California University

BERKELEY, March 17.—Among the thirty-eight nationalities represented at the University of California, the Orient is the leader. The greater proportion of the foreign students come from Asia. Chinese, Siberians, Japanese, Filipinos and Hindus predominate.

Engineering and irrigation development are popular subjects of study among the Chinese. Filipinos also are interested in irrigation, with commerce a strong second. The majority of Filipino students support themselves by doing housework, thus combining college studies with practical life for introduction in the eastern archipelago when they return.

D. A. R. MEMBERS AT CONVENTION VISIT GLENDALE

Delegates Motor Over From Pasadena, Entertained By Local Order

California Daughters of the American Revolution relaxed Saturday from the strenuous routine of their sixteenth annual convention in Pasadena and motored over to Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," to be guests of the General Richard Gridley chapter at a tea at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, honoring national officers and retiring and newly elected state officers.

It was the most brilliant affair the General Richard Gridley chapter has ever given and, furthermore, was one of the most artistic social events yet given in the attractive clubhouse.

Over 300 members were received during the afternoon, representing 44 California chapters, from San Diego in the south to Chico in the north.

Honor High Officers

Those specially honored were Mrs. Charles B. Booth of Pasadena, vice-president-general of the United States; Mrs. C. C. Cottle of Los Angeles, past vice-president-general of the United States; Mrs. Lyman B. Stookey, past regent of the state of California; Mrs. H. J. Mannhart, newly elected regent of the state of California; Mrs. Jesse H. Shreve of San Diego, newly elected vice-regent.

Others in the receiving line were Mrs. M. M. Mayberry of Los Angeles, chaplain-elect; Miss Helen C. Wing of Claremont, retiring, and Mrs. L. P. Boyce of San Francisco, newly elected recording secretary; Mrs. James Franklin Kent of Hollywood, retiring, and Mrs. Henley C. Booth of San Francisco, newly elected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry Edward Bean of Los Angeles, retiring, and Mrs. Edwin Frank of San Francisco, newly elected treasurer; Mrs. Giles H. Gray of Oakland, retiring, and Mrs. Alice L. Hart of San Francisco, newly elected northern auditor; Mrs. Jesse H. Shreve of San Diego, retiring, and Mrs. Henry Edgar Bean of Los Angeles, newly elected southern auditor.

Rooms Are Decorated

Miss Louisa Merritt of Pasadena, retiring, and Miss Lillie Cole of Oakland, newly elected consulting registrar; Mrs. Elizabeth Tibbets of Oakland, retiring, and Miss Louisa Merritt of Pasadena, newly elected historian; Mrs. Mary Latham of San Francisco, retiring, and Mrs. James Franklin Kent of Hollywood, newly elected librarian; Mrs. Harriet S. Wright of Pasadena, retiring, and Mrs. F. F. Gundrum of Sacramento, newly elected director.

Officers of the General Richard Gridley chapter receiving were Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent; Miss Ida D. Myers, first vice-regent; Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, second vice-regent; Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. G. Lyman, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, registrar; Mrs. S. H. Buttergield, chaplain; Mrs. T. W. Preston, historian.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward and her members of the decoration committee carried out the patriotic colors in the floral arrangements in the lounge, reception, tea, palm and banquet rooms of the clubhouse. Silk American flags were given prominence in the decorative scheme.

Bouquets Presented

As a courtesy to the national and retiring and newly elected state regents, huge bouquets of lavender and pink sweetpeas and freesias were presented to each one.

During the afternoon Mrs. Lyman P. Stookey, retiring state regent, was presented with a past regent's pin by her official board.

Music was furnished by a group of Glendale Union High school girls, directed by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson. During the reception hours they gave instrumental numbers.

Mesdames Mabel Franklin Ocker, J. A. Crawford and Jesse Flower poured. Assisting in the tea room were Mesdames Addison, Holbrook, Sayler, Purrier, Miller, Loucks, Goss, Kellar and Jencks.

Assisting in receiving were Mesdames Hayward, Lyman, Peart, Brown, Gale, Beggs, Beard, Preston, Scripps, Baird, Butterfield, Brown, Brigsg and Paine.

Schick Murder Trial Opens In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, March 17.—With many sensations in prospect, the trial of Everett Drew Clark, charged with the murder of George E. Schick, wealthy real estate operator, began today in the superior court. The case is unique in that Schick's body has never been found, and the prosecution will be forced to prove its case entirely by circumstantial evidence. Selection of a jury, it is expected, will not be completed before Wednesday.

Youth Killed as Car Hurtles From Grade

SANTA ROSA, Cal., March 17.—Dashing off a steep grade on the mountain road between Monte Rio and Camp Meeker, Norval Ingholm, 18, was instantly killed late last night and his companion in the automobile, Ray Silver, seriously injured. An inquest will be held this evening. The youth is believed to have lost control of his car.

PERSISTENCE IN PRAYER IS NEED

Supplications to God Should Be Sincere, Is Claim of Rev. Kringle

"Prayer as it is generally practiced is a wrong, rather than a virtue," said Rev. Henry O. Kringle in the course of his sermon at the Zion Lutheran church yesterday morning. He spoke on "Persistence in Prayer," taking his text from Matthew 15, 21-28.

"Men say 'Father,' but there is no childlike confidence in their hearts," he continued. "They add 'which art in heaven' but they do not speak and behave as if they were in the presence of the divine majesty.

"Prayer that deserves the name is a different thing. It is addressed to God, and he who utters it is conscious of this fact. It has a purpose; when it comes before God for a certain thing, it is determined to get it. It trusts in Christ's grace alone, therefore it is certain of success.

"But such prayer by its very nature, in order to be successful requires one qaulity that even the earnest petitioner sometimes overlooks, namely, persistence. To learn this virtue in prayer, we can find no better teacher than the Cyrophenician woman in the passages I have read in Matthew 15, 21-28.

Model Prayer

"The prayer of this woman was a model prayer from the start. Although seeing herself confronted by a number of men—all of Christ's disciples were with him—she wasted no time asking the loving John or begging the impetuous Peter. She went straightway to Jesus, although he was evidently least disposed to help her and cried, 'Have mercy on me, O Lord, Thou son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil!'

"So her prayer was not only directed to the right address, but it was also based on the fullest confidence in the love and power of Jesus. The only answer she received was, 'I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.' But, although that sounded like a blank refusal, she did not give up, but followed him, worshipped him, and begged him, 'Lord, help me.' The only effect of this faith in Christ was that she received the answer, harsher than the one before, 'It is not meet to take the children's bread, and cast it to the dogs.'

Woman Persisted

"Had the woman of Canaan stopped here, and retired, would her prayer have brought her relief? Would her confidence have been as signally justified, as it afterwards was? How good then, that she persisted! It was her perseverance in her firm faith in Christ that gained the ultimate victory. For we read at the end of our text: 'Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.'

"Will our persistence in prayer work like miracles? That depends upon the grace of God. But we can pray. 'Thou, O Jesus, hast come into this world and taken upon Thee my flesh, my sin, and damnation. Let me, then, dear Lord, but eat the crumbs that fall from my master's table and—I know it—Thy mercy is so bountiful that I shall surely be fully satisfied and saved.'"

Link Daugherty and Burns In Plot, Claim

ter charged Wheeler with "going far afield from the intended investigation." With both senators shouting at each other, Wheeler vigorously defended the testimony of Holdridge, saying he was proving a conspiracy existed by revealing the confession of one of the co-conspirators.

Bares "Inside Story"

Going into intimate details, Holdridge bared the "inside story" of the alleged conspiracy as related to him by Muma, who termed himself the "master mind of the deal."

This story, briefly, was as follows:

"Tex Rickard, P. C. Quimby, the film producer, and Muma arranged the film deal, Muma acting as 'go between' with the department of justice. That the deal was placed squarely before Attorney General Daugherty by Muma and met Daugherty's approval. That 'goats' were chosen in various states to be arrested for the alleged conspiracy after United States district attorneys and federal judges were carefully chosen to handle the cases. That the alleged conspirators finally became frightened by the activity of the two department of justice agents, Holdridge and Ralph Navarro, and Muma complained to Burns. As a result of this complaint, both agents were transferred to other duties, letting the alleged conspirators continue their transactions."

Supports Testimony

Holdridge supported his testimony with some documents and a sworn statement from Thomas G. Spellacy, another agent, endorsing his report on the statements of Muma. The committee immediately issued a subpoena for Spellacy.

Subsequently, Holdridge said, he resigned because he was "disgusted" at the conduct of the department of justice officials. He declared, in response to a direct question, that he believed both Daugherty and Burns to have been involved in the film deal He quoted Burns as saying Muma had been "indiscreet."

SAYS TIMES SHOW WORLD IS ASTRAY

Conditions of Present Day Form Topic of Sermon By Dr. Rasmus

"A World Astray" was the topic of the sermon by Dr. H. I. Rasmus at the First Methodist church yesterday morning. The text was Isaiah 5:3-6, "All we, like sheep, have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."

"In one of my earlier appointments," said Dr. Rasmus, "the word went out one afternoon that a child was lost. The entire community took up the hunt.

"In a far greater way the world is astray. Not one child, one family or one branch of the race, but a whole world, gone astray. There is only one possible way of recovery. 'On him hath been laid the iniquity of us all.' Very clearly does this describe Jesus and His mission.

Way of Recovery

"All through the Bible runs this sad strain of a race lost. But the same source tells of a Saviour, whose coming is prophesied away back in the Old Testament, coming to seek and save that which is lost. There is no necessity to prove that the race has gone astray. All around us are men and women lost to God. They appeal to our sympathy and awaken our interest. In three ways they are lost.

"First, humanity is lost to the beauty of God in holy, pure living. The Psalmist said 'Let the beauty of the Lord be on us'. Jesus said, 'Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.' Lost to the great life in God through Christ, as some are lost to the wondrous and beauties of nature, to the glories of the stars and the heavens, so are men lost to the beauties of the kingdom of God.

"Second, Humanity is lost to the supreme happiness of the heart. Two unimpeachable witnesses testify to the joy of the gospel. Through disobedience man has lost the happiness of heart, and never in his own way can he regain it. He may seek it by accumulating gold or by pursuing the pleasures of the world. He can run after it in chariots. He can pursue it in automobiles. He can fly after it in the airplane, but he will never overtake it. Christ is the only avenue to its restoration.

"Third, Humanity is lost to the realization of all that is worth while. We may fail to realize some of the ambitions of this life, but we can all make sure of finding heaven. Be privileged to look upon the face of Him who was wounded for our transgressions. No longer lost or astray but in His appointed way we can find the beauties of life, supreme happiness, and heavenly wealth."

BURBANK

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE GET BUSY

Political Activities Start as Six Announce Their Hats In Ring

A total of six political hats now adorn the Burbank municipal election ring, and new hats seem to be making their appearance daily—or to be literal, not exactly new hats but new to the ring.

The latest fedora to flop down within the mystic circle is said to belong to W. E. Smith, in which case it would make him an aspirant for the position of city treasurer Mr. Smith has been connected with municipal affairs for some time.

Other hats, caps, derbies and divers additional varieties of chapeaux have been identified as belonging to John Nielsen, Charles E. Hams and Elmer J. Jackson, who have ambitions to succeed themselves as members of the board of city trustees; F. S. Webster, to succeed himself as city clerk; and Chas. B. Fischer, to succeed himself as city treasurer.

No head-pieces may be added to the rapidly growing collection in the local political ring after March 25. The municipal election will be held in April

Merchants Organize

The merchants' division of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce was formed at a meeting called to order at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, March 14, in the council room of the City Hall, B A. Cross, second vice-president of the chamber, presiding.

Among the matters with which the new division will concern themselves are: a schedule for the observance of holidays and the appointment of committees to carry on the work of the division.

In this connection, according to Manager J W. Charleville, the merchants will be entirely independent of the chamber, except for any service which the chamber can render, the office and service of the chamber being for the merchants' division when they wish to call for them. There will be no expense to the merchants, he states, and the benefit to themselves will come from the organization.

"Every person in Burbank who sells anything is eligible to membership in the division," says Mr. Charlesville, "and any merchants who are not members of the C. of C. and want to join this new division may do so."

She writes: "I enjoy your paper very much, and want to keep posted on Glendale's marvelous growth through your Columns.

TOURISTS PAY TAX

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—The two-cent gasoline tax will result in tourists in California contributing $200,000 in 1924 to the upkeep of state highways, it was estimated today by officials of the state motor vehicle department.

PLAN TRIPS FOR SCOUTS, PART OF YEAR'S PROGRAM

Sight-Seeing Excursion to San Diego Feature of Easter Vacation

Harvey R. Cheesman, patron saint of Glendale Boy Scouts, is keeping busy these days developing the big program he has mapped out for Scouts of the Verdugo Hills council for the current year.

Two recent events that have been features of this program were the recent training institute for Scout leaders and the big campfire last Friday night for all Glendale boys of Scout age.

These two events combined in one big result, that Glendale will have fourteen Scout troops instead of four, giving every Glendale boy anxious for Scout training the desired opportunity.

Cost Is Low

"A boy can be a Scout for 50 cents a year," Mr. Cheesman told the 400 or more boys gathered around the campfire last Friday

Growth In Population And Wealth Seen In Number Of Income Tax Returns Filed

Promptly at midnight on March 15 Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell locked the doors of the revenue office, and the greatest income tax drive ever conducted in Southern California had ended.

Ten thousand taxpayers filed returns in Los Angeles Saturday, and at midnight the cleanup was complete. Forty-three thousand returns were filed the fast four days of the drive, and Collector Goodcell says that in both point of number of returns and in taxes collected all Southern California records were smashed. During the drive in addition to assisting citizens of this district in making out their returns, the deputies of Collector Goodcell have advised and aided 65,000 tourists in preparing returns, which were forwarded to their home districts for filing. In San Diego, Long Beach, Pasadena and Santa Barbara, two returns were prepared for tourists to every one for a local taxpayer.

Deposits Heavy

At midnight Collector Goodcell wired the treasury department at Washington that $6,121,907.21 had been deposited in the federal reserve bank and that approximately $4,000,000 in unopened mail remained undeposited.

Shattering all federal records for increases in number of returns for 1923 income filed during the legal period ending Saturday night and for income reported reported during the last five years, the city of Los Angeles and the Southern California internal revenue district as a whole have set a new nationwide record, according to a report made to Washington today by Collector Goodcell.

Increase 30 Per Cent

Checking of the returns filed in 1924 indicates that 299,886 were reported in the district as a whole, compared with 230,682 in 1923, an increase of 30 per cent.

The city of Los Angeles again came to the front with a record-smashing gain, 188,139 returns having been filed, as against 134,-

TRAFFIC PATROL NAMES SENT IN BY SUPERVISORS

Motor Division to Announce Appointments Soon, to Check on Plates

More than fifty per cent of the boards of supervisors of the various counties of California have indicated their willingness to enter into agreements with the division of motor vehicles, at once, for the appointment of traffic officers to form a statewide highway patrol, Will H. Marsh, chief of the division, has announced.

Requests that the supervisors furnish the division with lists of eligibles for appointment to the traffic squad were made last week following the decision of the supreme court upholding the constitutionality of a section of the motor vehicle act which provided for the appointment of traffic officers by the division and for payment of their wages out of motor vehicle funds apportioned to the respective counties in which they were to serve.

Can Appoint Them

Marsh stated today that in case of refusal by the supervisors to submit lists of eligibles for appointment, it was his intention to exert the prerogative vested in him by the law and appoint traffic officers in such counties regardless of the action of the supervisors. He added that he did not believe such steps would be necessary as a majority of the boards has already evinced a desire to co-operate.

"I have no desire to be arbitrary in this matter and intend to adhere strictly to lists furnished me by the supervisors in making appointments and as nearly as possible to their recommendations regarding salaries," said Marsh. "It is imperative, however, that we get these men on the highways at once so that the law may be enforced and danger from reckless driving reduced. There is no time for quibbling and I am going to see that we get these officers on the job and get them there quick.

El Dorado First

"Personally I would be more than glad to be relieved of the responsibility of making these appointments if there was any way for the counties to handle them legally."

El Dorado County was the first to sign the agreement and two officers, Earl Chesmore and Carl Slaterbeck, are now operating in the vicinity of Placerville.

C. K. Harder, chief inspector of the division, has announced that the initial work of the highway patrol will be the checking up of violations of the registration provisions. The officers have been instructed to stop all persons using 1923 license plates and arrest them if a satisfactory explanation for their failure to secure new ones is not forthcoming.

Applications of a number of motorists for new plates are being held up by the division because of lost certificates, improper transfers and other reasons. Such motorists will be permitted to use the old plates until such time as the technicalities involved in issuing new ones are straightened out. Harder said.

About 100 officers will be employed on the highways immediately and additions will be made as they are needed. The state will be divided into districts in charge of inspectors who will maintain headquarters at the various branch offices of the division.

Local Doctor Tells Of Glendale's Charms

Dr. Will Classen, formerly of Hebron, Neb., but who now practices his profession in Glendale, with offices at the corner of Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road, is a Glendale booster of the most pronounced type. Not content with making his own home here and building up his own fortunes, Dr. Classen seeks to lure others to Glendale through a distinctive message that is carried on all of his stationery. The message reads:

"Beautiful Glendale — Here, nestling in the mountains overlooking Los Angeles, is this ideally located, prosperous, active, growing and thriving City of Glendale, where a genuine, warm welcome awaits you all. As far as words can serve let this be taken as an expression of the utmost cordiality of the welcome awaiting you—municipally, institutionally and personally.

The reaction to Dr. Classen's striking endorsement of the City of Glendale has already been most pronounced, both here and among many of his correspondents in other cities.

Pioneer Notchers Publishing Lively News of Local Y

Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," is not too modern to have a live group of pioneers, not residents of the early days, but members of the rising generation, "The Pioneer Notchers" of the Y. M. C. A.

"The Pioneer News," the official publication of these juvenile pioneers, is, as far as known, the only newspaper of its kind in California. The second issue came off the mimeograph on Saturday and is full of interesting Pioneer Notcher news, featuring the father and son banquet Tuesday night, March 25, at the Glendale Presbyterian church.

SPEND $4,000,000 ON CHURCH WORK

Glendale Adventist Pastor Submits Reports at Fresno Meeting

Seventh-Day Adventists of California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada, which are included in the Pacific Union Conference, gave more than $4,000,000 for the advancement of their denomination at home and abroad during the last four years, according to the report of Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the union, at the convention of leaders now being held in Fresno.

Elder McElhany said that of this sum $2,503,082.05 was given in tithes for the support of the ministry at home while $1,660,477.27 was contributed to foreign mission enterprises. He said there were 3,474 new baptized converts into the church.

Strong On Coast

He also said that the Seventh Day Adventists are stronger on the Pacific Coast from an institutional standpoint than any other section of the world. Among the institutions controlled by the denomination on this coast, he said, are the Pacific Press Publishing Association at Mountain View, the St. Helena sanitarium, the Paradise Valley Sanitarium at National City, the Glendale Sanitarium, the Loma Linda Sanitarium, and the White Memorial Hospital at Los Angeles. He said all of these medical institutions are "rendering excellent service in the treatment of the sick and in the training of medical workers."

Of the educational institutions operated by the church he named Pacific Union College at St. Helena, the academies at Lodi, Phoenix and Riverside, Glendale, Fresno, Mountain View and Los Angeles, and declared that the church is also operating more than 100 parochial schools. He said that, while the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linia was operated by the General Conference, yet a number of the students there were from the Pacific Union Conference.

Total area of Nova Scotia is 21,428 square miles.

WILL ROGERS IS HEADLINER FOR LEGION BENEFIT

Movie People to Assist In Brilliant Event on Next Wednesday Night

Headed by the versatile Will Rogers, unquestionably one of the greatest, if not the greatest, drawing cards in America today, a galaxy of movie and stage stars will invade Glendale next Wednesday night to appear in the monster benefit show to be staged by the Glendale Post No. 127, of the American, at the Broadway High school auditorium.

The proceeds of the show, which bids fair to rival, and perhaps excel, anything of its kind ever before attempted in southern California, go to the fund which the local post maintains for the assistance and relief of disabled veterans of the world war. A small portion will be set aside for the building fund which is being created with an idea of erecting a Legion club-house in the near future.

Bring Headliners

The affair is sponsored by Miss Virginia Pearson, herself a war worker of note, and leading movie star. She, together with L. D. Fish of the local post, has secured the services of over thirty artists who will donate their time and services absolutely free of charge, and the program, as outlined by members of the committee at the regular meeting of the post last night, is one that not a person in Glendale can afford to miss.

In addition to Will Rogers, who is a show in himself, there is Harry Tighe, one of vaudeville's greatest stars: Anita Stewart, Florence Vidor, Creighton Hale, Buster Keaton, and a host of others whose names are synonymous with all that is best in the theatrical world.

Jekyll and Hyde

A feature of the program is the appearance of Sheldon Lewis, in sketches from "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." His recent characterization of these two famous characters on the New York stage was pronounced by many critics to be the best work of its kind ever presented in that city.

"We feel that we have the greatest show ever presented in Glendale," said Mr. Fish, in addressing the members of the Legion last night. "We have thirty stars who have absolutely assured us that they will be on hand and will appear on the program. We have several of the greatest attractions of the theatrical world today, and we should turn away thousands from the high school auditorium.

"Only last night I talked to Miss Pearson at her Hollywood residence. She informed me that

Santa Monica Water Bonds Are Approved

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—By a decision of Judge J. A. Smith, the election in Santa Monica to issue $1,000,000 in bonds for a water works system and $60,000 for a public library, was declared to have carried by the necessary two-thirds majority vote.

The decision came after a recount of the votes and the settling of a technical question as to whether it was necessary to obtain a two-thirds majority of all the ballots cast at the election or two-thirds majority of the votes cast for the individual issue. The election was held December 4, last.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Scofflaw salad!

Scofflaw mint julep!

Bottled scofflaw cocktails!

Of course! But what's it all about?

Hundreds of automobiles daily line the spring-flowering banks of a tiny creek near here, in Visitacion Valley, while the motorists dig gallons and gallons of watercress. The toothsome green cress is yanked and pulled out yard after yard.

And back of the hills and down in the dells along Visitacion Valley the merry home-brewers continue their work. Great quantities of mash are emptied each day into the little rivulet. For months this has been going on.

"Visitacion watercress was never as good as now!" is the shout of the salad-makers, as they fill their bountiful baskets with the cress, which flashes vivid green in the sunlight and displays long roots, well soaked in mash-water and mash-saturated soil.

Many of the motorists are now bottling the watercress, keeping it at a certain temperature for months. Others make old-fashioned juleps with the cress, using plenty of it in a glass half filled with water. A dash of mint is added, and the famous Southern drink is thereby almost exactly duplicated, it is said.

The recipe for scofflaw salad is this:

Spread the cress on salad plates, garnish with lemon and cherries and serve cold with pretzels.

Two burglars meet at high midnight in a darkened house and then calmly cut a deck of cards to see who has sole right to the job.

A plot for a short story?

Not much! It really happened in the El Cerrito home of A. M. Hibbert, adjoining the residence of J. Frank Daniel, professor at the University of California.

Harry Martin, Canadian war hero, who stole thousands of dollars in jewelry, silverware and other valuables to give his bride and furnish a love-nest in the Berkeley Hills, was one of the robbers. The police are seeking the other thief.

Martin revealed his story to the police, and they said, after investigating, it was true.

"Well, there's no use fighting about this; let's get down to business," is what Martin told the police he said to the other burglar when he encountered him in the Hibbert home.

Then it was suggested the two bold burglars cut cards to decide who would finish the job.

"High card wins!" whispered Martin.

The other thief cut the nine of hearts.

Martin uncovered the three of clubs.

"I always did have hard luck," Martin sobbed later to the officers.

Martin's story has already been verified to the extent that the Hibbert home shows marks of having been entered by two burglars. One entered by the front door, using a passkey, while the other pried open a rear window.

Snatched from living deaths, thirty little Chinese girls are smiling and blinking slanted eyes here for the first time in many weeks, as chains of slavery fell from their shoulders.

They are the children taken from "the Turtle men," dealers in women, and placed in the mission rescue home of Miss Donaldina Cameron, angel of San Francisco's Chinatown.

Childish cries of pleasure were shouted by these little girls of old China, sold when babes on the auction block of the highbinder tongs to the highest bidder among the dealers in female flesh, as they were given a first look at six big looms, where they will learn to spin and earn their own living.

In bondage, these girls were never permitted to do anything whereby they might learn to support themselves; they were never allowed to work, for their masters feared practical knowledge of any kind among them.

Here, in these great looms, the Chinese maidens beheld what they longed for so many months in secret—an opportunity to earn dollars and thereby freedom.

They clapped their hands, squealed with glee and stamped their tiny feet.

Yin Fong Yu, a gay ribbon in her blue-black hair, who escaped from an opium den, perched atop a stool like a dainty bird from an Oriental wood and fingered the silken threads of the loom lovingly, tenderly.

Yow Goy Woo, so young, but yet so old, with the shadow of many ghastly nights still in her eyes, stared about her. She seemed unable to realize her good fortune.

Kwai Fong, delicate and glowing like a flower, chanted happily.

And on them, pride in her eyes, beamed Miss Cameron, their new mother, who planned and directed their rescue and gave them this chance to make good their escape from a terrible bondage.

Dinner Stories

A settlement worker was speaking of the relaxed moral standards that she found among the people in her district in New York—owing, she thought, to the upsetting conditions of the war period.

"One boy I knew," she said, "was recently sent to the reform school, and a neighbor was trying to console the lad's mother.

"'Yes,' said the mother, 'it is a shame. He was such a good boy, too. Everything he stole he used to bring right home to me.'"

Willis gave the beggar a quarter and started to pass on. Instead, he stopped for a moment.

"Don't you get tired of begging for a living?" he asked.

"Well, yes I do," the beggar confessed. "But how else is a fellow going to live?"

"Why not quit begging and go to work?" Willis inquired.

"I tried that once," the beggar confessed, "but you know, work is so uncertain."

When the draft age was raised from thirty-one to forty-one years during the war the constable of a small Texas village where there were many negroes pinned on his largest badge and set out to do his duty.

Seated on a barrel at the railway station was a negro in overalls reading a newspaper and waiting for some farmer to hire him. It was plainly to be observed that he was slowly spelling out the dispatch about the new draft age.

"How old are you?" demanded the constable, leveling a threatening index finger at the negro's nose. One upward glance gave warning of the badge and the farm-hand adopted his most conciliatory tone, a weak falsetto.

"I don't jes' rightly 'member how old I is, boss," he said, "but I'll average a little mite over forty-one." Anyway, it worked.

Most any headwaiter has a good story or two to tell. This one, for example:

At a banquet of churchmen a certain bishop had as his left-hand companion a clergyman who was completely bald. During dessert the bald-headed vicar dropped his napkin and stooped to pick it up. At this moment, the bishop, who was talking to his right-hand neighbor, felt a slight touch on his left arm. He turned, and beholding the vicar's pate on a level with his elbow, said: "No, thank you; no melon."

A certain wealthy senator got into a dispute in Washington with a hotel clerk about a difference of $1.20 in his bill. After going into every angle of the supposed over-charge for more than an hour, the senator gloomily paid the bill and went his way. Just as he passed out of the front door a motor car tire out in the front blew up with a loud report like a pistol shot.

The young hotel clerk clapped his hands to his brow melodramatically, and cried:

"Good night! The senator has shot himself!"

Applications for membership in the New York Newspaper Club require the aspirants to set down the "name in full," "business address," "home address" and "occupation." Then follows a special heading, "newspaper experience," in which they detail the extent and character of their service.

When William Randolph Hearst, recently elected to active membership, filled out his application under the entry "newspaper experience." It was:

"Plenty!"

WRITES OPERA ON LOVE TANGLE

Strauss Makes Capital of Narrow Escape

FRAU STRAUSS OPENED ONE OF HIS LETTERS WHICH APPARENTLY REVEALED A LOVE AFFAIR WITH ANOTHER WOMAN

Richard Strauss and his wife.

PARIS, Mar. 17.—An interesting story is being told about Richard Strauss' new opera. It is based upon a personal experience of the noted composer which caused him and his wife many unhappy days and narrowly missed wrecking their home.

The opera, titled "Intermezzo," will be produced next season in Austria and Germany. The libretto was written by Hermann Bahr on the plot suggested by Strauss, but the composer rewrote it, as Bahr failed to make the role personifying Frau Strauss as fascinating and attractive as her husband wished.

Strauss had the real life plot wished on him unwillingly. While he was away from home he received a telegram from his lawyer saying his wife had instituted a suit for divorce. The composer rushed back to Vienna, but was unable to find his wife. Consequently he consulted her attorneys as well as his own and was told the whole story.

Frau Strauss had opened one of his letters which apparently revealed a love affair with another woman. Dr. Strauss declared he did not know the letter writer's name, and the lawyers went to her. The girl asserted she was Strauss's sweetheart, saying she was to meet him that afternoon at a certain cafe. The lawyers went to the cafe and saw the girl meet another man, who confessed that he had used Strauss's name, as he did not desire to reveal his own, and did not believe the young woman would write to the composer.

Who's Who in the Day's News

"FEELING CREATED BETWEEN PRISONER AND LAW HELPS MAKE PRISON SITUATION SERIOUS"

"That the subject of prisons is a great and a grave one there is no doubt, but we make it a greater and a graver one by establishing factional feeling between the governing and the governed—the man in power trying to overawe him shorn of power," so says Dr. B. Ogden Chisolm, member of the International Prison Commission, in a recent article. "The subject of prisons is one of which the public knows but little. It is too busy making money, selling automobiles, and each fellow has some private scheme to try and reform his brother; and all this takes up a great deal of time and thought.

"Most of the prisons that exist in the country today were built at a time when people believed that when a man committed a crime he was possessed of the devil, and any place was good enough to put him in. Some of them are veritable traps of disease and death, where no self-respecting persons would keep a dog over night, and yet into these foul smelling places we sentence men to spend their lives. Can we wonder that prisoners are incited to rebel and that riots and disturbances occur once in awhile? Riots are caused usually by injustice on the part of the governing classes or improper classification, placing an insane man in among a group of normal ones.

Prisons Very Much Alike

"There really is very little disparity the world over in the handling of prisoners. They are all pretty much alike, that is they are the products of the broken home, neglected as it were from childhood. One of the great questions in the proper handing of prisoners is the length of time that he should stay behind the bars. Modern views of the malefactor considering his past life convince us that the prisoner is mentally sick and he needs treatment more than he needs punishment, but the antiquated view is that time is a cure for crime. There never was a greater fallacy. No judge has a right to sentence a man looked upon as normal to a definite sentence without some means of lightening that sentence when the man is ready to be released.

How to Repay Victim?

"Another problem that has never been fully threshed out in the handling of prisoners, and yet it seems to be one that should be foremost in the minds of the people, is: How may we make the delinquent indemnify his victim? If a man steals a silver plate worth $100 and pawns it for $50, and thereupon squanders the money, is arrested and put in prison it seems as if some scheme could be worked out to make the prisoner earn $100 to be given back to the owner of the plate.

"The question is how this can be done. As a matter of fact the prisoner becomes at once on entering the prison a debtor to the state which feeds him and clothes him and amuses him. That is the first charge against the inmate. The second charge is a sufficient sum put aside out of his earnings for the man when he is released to keep him from becoming a pauper and a burden upon the community. Otherwise come a recidivist. Part of this sum from time to time should go to the support of his dependents. If after all this is done there is anything left it should go to indemnify the owner of the plate."

THE VITAL QUESTIONS OF THE HOUR

How many dependent persons (other than husband or wife) under 18 years of age or incapable of support because mentally or physically defective were receiving their chief support from you on the last day of your taxable period? Net income (item 18 above)? Balance of tax item 31 minus items 32 and 33)?

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND FLOPPY'S FACE

Some little piggie boys can keep their faces clean. Some little boys can't. Floppy Twistytail was one of the little piggie boys who couldn't. I must tell you about it.

Curly and Floppy Twistytail were two little piggie boys who lived with their father and mother in a penhouse, not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Now it is the nature of pigs—little and big—to dig in the dirt with their noses. That is how they often get good things for pigs to eat.

Curly and Floppy each used to dig with their noses in the dirt, but while Curly always washed his face after doing this, Floppy was not quite so careful. Often he would forget, and he would run out to play, go to the store for his mother, or even start for the Hollow Stump School with a dirty face.

"Why don't you wash your face in the brook, as I do?" Curly would ask Floppy.

"Oh, I forgot," Floppy would answer.

In cold weather, when the brook was frozen, Curly, to clean his face, would rub it in a bank of snow, or against the bark of a tree. But Floppy! Oh, dear! He never would think of doing that!

So it came to pass that, very often, Floppy had a dirty, muddy face, and his mother was quite sad about it.

"Floppy, my dear," Mrs. Twistytail would grunt, "whatever is to become of you when you grow up to be a big pig if you always have a dirty face? What will become of you?"

"Oh, I can get work in a coal mine," Floppy would answer. "It doesn't matter in a coal mine how dirty your face is."

Mrs. Twistytail wanted to laugh, but she did not dare. She just looked serious and said:

"But while you are a little boy pig, Floppy, you must keep your face clean!"

But an hour later his face would be as dirty and muddy as ever.

"Yes'm!" Floppy would squeal.

"Send him to Uncle Wiggily!" grunted Mr. Twistytail to his wife. "That rabbit gentleman was the means of teaching Tommie Kat to clean his teeth. Uncle Wiggily will find a way to teach Floppy to wash his face."

So off to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow the little piggie boy was sent. Uncle Wiggily was off looking for an adventure when the piggie boy reached the bungalow. But Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was there, and she said:

"Uncle Wiggily likes animal children with clean faces, Floppy. See that you keep yours washed."

"Yes'm," grunted Floppy. Then he went out in the bungalow yard to play. The weather happened to be warm and the sun had thawed the frozen ground so there was a fine, muddy place for Floppy to rub his nose. And he did just that! He rubbed his nose in the dirt until his face looked like one of those funny masks which are worn at Hallowe'en.

"Ki-yi!" squealed Floppy. "I'm having a fine time!" Then he rubbed his nose in the mud some

It was almost time for Uncle more.

Wiggily to come home from his adventures when Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, looking out in the yard, saw Floppy with his dirty, muddy face.

"Oh, Floppy, my dear!" cried the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Come in and wash your face at once! Uncle Wiggily will soon be here, and he mustn't see you with such a funny, dirty face!"

"Yes'm," answered Floppy. But he kept on playing in the mud, getting more on his nose, around his eyes and around his mouth, until he looked like the false face of Rackitytack, which is one of the worst chaps in the world—terrible!

Well, Floppy was still playing in the mud, and he han't washed his face, and he looked like the terrible Rackitytack, when, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily came hopping along. The rabbit gentleman was hopping as fast as he could hop. And with good reason! The Bushy Bear was chasing him!

The Bushy Bear had seen the rabbit gentleman in the woods and ran after him.

"I'll nibble your ears! I'll nibble your ears!" growled the Bear.

Floppy, hearing the noise, ran from the back yard around to the front. The little piggie boy, with his face not yet washed, saw the Bear chasing Uncle Wiggily.

"Squee! Squee!" cried Floppy. And then the Bear saw what he thought was the terrible Rackitytack, but which, really was only the piggie boy, with a dirty face, looking like a Rackitytack.

"Oh! Oh! excuse me!" growled the Bear, who was much afraid of a real Rackitytack. "I'll nibble your ears some other day, Uncle Wiggily. Good bye!" And away ran the Bear.

"Oh, I frightened him; didn't I, Uncle Wiggily?" squealed Floppy.

"Squee! Squee!" cried Floppy.

"I frightened the Bear with my dirty Rackitytack face!"

"Yes," the bunny answered. "And this teaches us, Floppy, that though dirty faces are good once in a great while, you must wash yours before you eat supper with me." And the little piggie boy did, and after that he always washed his face when he should.

And if the stove doesn't try to turn a somersault unside down and spill coal all over the kitchen floor, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the window curtain.

SOUTH'S ATHLETES MAY BEAT BEARS

On Paper, Cromwell's Team Is 10 Points Better Than Christie's Outfit

Is the ambition of a generation about to be realized? Will the Southern California ... Golden Bears of Berkeley in track this year?

With but one more dual meet separating these two rivals in Pacific Coast athletics critics already are looking forward to the clash which is scheduled in Berkeley for Saturday, March 22.

For years U. S. C. has been trying to defeat California in football and on the track. The Trojans have been getting a little closer year by year, until now, with the California track team crippled by the graduation of veterans, fans throughout the state are sitting up and taking notice—that on paper Dean Cromwell's track team looks from seven to ten points stronger than that coached by Christie. Stanford appears to be stronger than either, but what does that matter to Cromwell if he can trim California?

Not an Idle Dream

What a rally there will be at S. C. if the Trojan track team returns victorious! And that this is not an idle dream is shown by plain, cold figures. Cromwell starts the season with a stronger team than Christie has. But it must be remembered that Christie has three men out for track to every one for Cromwell, and a few weeks may find the development of stars hitherto unheard of.

Going down the list of events there are but two in which the Trojans appear to be due for a whitewash, where last year they ...ded nine points in four ...nts. These are the javelin, in which the Trojan heavers are falling down miserably, and the two mile, in which event California is particularly strong.

The sprints are problematical, but with Yale Martz below last season's form, it is probable that either Barber or Shephard will win the century, with Martz good for second if he speeds up a bit. Either Martz or Thurmond Clarke ought to come through with first in the 220, although there is nothing certain about this. California should get ten points in the two sprints to eight for U. S. C.

Probable Point Men

Clarke looks like the best 440 man, and Aiden Hughes may get a second over Bob Hurst, former Long Beach boy. Six points is a safe margin to give the Trojans in the 880. Mike Ellwood, who ran 4:37 a week ago Saturday, may give the Trojans three points in the mile.

Running in his present form, Otto Anderson cannot defeat Becker of California in the high hurdles, although Anderson and Leighton Dye ought to divide second and third places between them. The Bears, at this writing, have no known low hurdler who can defeat either Anderson or Kenneth Grumbles so the Trojans ought to clean up at least eight and possibly nine points in this event.

Paul Boren, the great California broad jumper, looks good for a victory in this event but he will be hard pushed by both Earl Wilson and Otto Anderson of the Trojans, who ought to annex four points at least. Ross, U. S. C. high jumper, is good for six feet which is probably better than anyone at California is doing right now and Bayard Ryder should add a point to the Trojans' score.

Pole Men Look Good

None of the California pole vaulters are getting up very high at present and both Howard White and Wright of U. S. C. appear to have the edge, with Sherrod looming up strong at eleven feet six inches. Unless Christie develops a man pronto, Cromwell ought to garner eight points in this event, but Christie has a habit of developing pole vaulters.

The Trojans look good for the relay and that leaves the meet to be decided in the weight events. Bud Houser is being banked upon to win both the shot put and the discus and in both events Norman Anderson and Fay Thomas must be consid red. Norman had the edge on both Neufeldt and Witter last year, but even should these men shove him back to third the Trojans should win the meet, 70 to 61, according to this very hasty survey, which is not intended to be taken either as a dope sheet or an attempt to predict anything, but rather as a list of cold figures to prove that the Trojans at last have a chance to defeat California on the track and field.

Ray French May Get Berth With Cub Team

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 17.—Ray French, former Vernon shortstop, owned by the Brooklyn Dodgers, may land a job with Bill Killifer's Chicago Cubs. It has been reported that the Dodgers were trying to send French to the Minneapolis club, a deal that would not be acceptable to the player.

Bill Killifer is said to be seriously considering opening negotiations with Brooklyn for the infielder.

TROJAN TRACKERS DEFEAT SAGEHENS

U. S. C. Squad Score 90-50 Victory Over Pomona Men Saturday

Coach Cromwell's Trojan tracksters scored a 90 to 50 victory over Pomona college in their dual meet held at the Coliseum last Saturday. The U. S. C. team repeated their performance of a week ago when they trampled over Occidental to a similar tune. The sensational work of Bob Maxwell and Bud Houser featured the meet.

Maxwell copped three firsts, the 100-yard dash and both hurdle events. Houser annexed 15 points also, winning the discus, hammer throw and establishing a new U. S. C. record in the shot-put. He put the shot 47 feet, 5 inches, smashing his own record of 46 feet, 10 inches, which he made last week in the Tiger meet.

Wins Several Firsts

Maxwell stepped into the limelight and won the 100-yard dash over Yale Martz in 10 4-10 seconds and then squeezed Dye of U. S. C. out of first place in the high sticks in the good time of 15 1-0 seconds. To top off the afternoon's entertainment, Maxwell engaged Otto Anderson and Ken Grumbles in the low two-by-fours and made them both eat dust, winning first in 23 9-10 seconds. Grumbles was neck and neck with Maxwell until he tripped on the next to the last hurdle for a neat spill right in front of Anderson.

The Trojans won nine first places and Pomona took the remaining seven. Ellwood of U. S. C. turned in a good mile with Paul Stroud, Pomona miler, second, in the fast time of 4 minutes, 35 8-10 seconds. Stroud burned himself out in the mile event and so did not run the half, leaving Niersbach the 880-yard without competition. The two-mile run went to Bill Snyder of Pomona, who ran a beautiful race, winning with ease in 10 minutes, 12 7-10 seconds.

Trojans Cop Weights

Dean Cromwell's Trojans had the big edge in the weights. U. S. C. made a clean sweep in the shot and discus and took first and second in the hammer. Merritt, Sagehen weight man, won third in the hammer. Eaton added five points for the Sagehens in the javeline with a throw of 163 feet, 1 inch. The proposed match between Frisbee of Pomona and Wilson and O. Anderson of U. S. C. proved a fizzle, for Frisbee had an off day and was lucky to get a third. Wilson won the event with a jump of 22 feet, 5½ inches. The 440 was won by Gardner of Pomona. Woods and Hughes of the Trojan camp came in second and third, respectively. The relay was a thriller and finally won by U. S. C. in 3 minutes, 31 seconds.

ITALIAN RETAINS CROWN AT ASCOT

Haugdahl Used Two Cars In Attempt to Dethrone Ralph De Palma

Sig Haughdal, speed king of the Florida sand stretches, where he made 180 miles an hour in his special Wisconsin car, stepped down from his throne yesterday at Ascot speedway to make room for Ralph De Palma, idol of the dirt track fans. Haugdahl went down to defeat in a match race with the Italian yesterday when he lost two heats.

Two cars were used by Haugdahl in his effort to take the laurels from De Palma's brow after Haugdahl had been denied the use of his pet Fiat and his 180-mile car. The first heat saw Fred Licklider's old Duesenberg as his mount, and then Lick's new Miller was pressed into service when Haugdahl couldn't get enough speed out of the Deusie.

The match race was one of nine events dished up by the speedway management for race fans yesterday.

Bentel Helmet, one-lap dash for motorcycles—Won by Gene Walker; Seymour, second. Time 32 2-4s.

Ascot Helmet, one-lap dash for autos—Won by Duray. Time, 33 2-5s.

Invitational race, ten laps, for autos—Won by Arthur Davidson; Vic Monks, second, and C. D. Evans, third. Time 8m. 4 1-3s.

Klingensmith stakes, fifteen laps, for autos—Won by Eddie Meyer; Vernon McCombs, second, and Gus Shrader, third. Time, 8m, 32 2-5s.

Flying Circus motorcycle side-car race, five laps—Won by Hepburn. Time, 3m., 21 3-5s.

Melvin Hall sweepstakes, fifteen laps, for autos—Won by Leon Duray; Eddie Meyer, second, and Gus Shrader, third. Time 8m, 22 1-5s.

GLENDALE K. OF C. TRIM HOLLYWOOD

Galliger and Manush Bright Stars for Locals In League Contest

McDonnell of Hollywood and Galliger of Glendale engaged in a pretty pitchers' duel at Hollywood yesterday where the local K. C.'s journeyed to open the newly formed K. C. league, with the local boys having the better of the argument. Glendale won, 5-3.

Galliger had the Hollywood Knights shut out until the seventh when he eased up and they scored three runs. The locay Caseys had scored one in the second, two in the fifth and two more in the seventh, so they were enjoying a comfortable lead.

Harry Manush, besides playing a great game in the field, gathered three hits, one of which was a homer.

BACK ON ISLAND

AVALON, Catalina, Cal., March 17.—Regulars and recruits having turned the tide of three straight losses with victories over Los Angeles and Seattle, the Cubs were hard at work on their island home again today. Manager Killifer found many defects, despite the improved showing.

EDDIE COLLINS REPORTS

SARASOTA, Fla., March 17.—Eddie Collins, always a late comer, arrived in time to see the White Sox and Giants play today. There was a well defined rumor that Harry Hooper has quit baseball, dissatisfied with his contract.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

Carl Sawyer's announcement that he will give up baseball for business was the signal for reminiscent chin calisthenics at the regular meeting of the Jawbone Society, held in Jack Dewar's cellar.

Sawyer was always a studious young man and delved deeply into the study of the ear and elbow language, contortion broadcasting and kindred mirth provokers.

The dope book shows that Carl made his debut in big league clowning circles while accepting insults on Clark Griffith's Washington club. He batted 1001 the day he broke loose and led his society for many seasons.

Some authorities declare that Griffith has at one time or another employed all the baseball clowns known to comedy, but this is not true. Some of the Pacific Coast League umpires have never been in the big leagues.

His first appearance in New York caused apoplexy among many of the aldermen who were serving their city at the ball park that afternoon. New York Yankees were wasting a couple of hours on Griffith's circus, but had not been tipped off that a new clown would perform.

Just before the customers got ready to take their regular reducing exercise in the seventh, an inconspicuous youth ambled out to the coaching line and put on a posing exhibition. An umpire about the same time slipped over a less fragrant decision than usual.

Immediately there smote the ears of the dumfounded patrons the song of a mule who seemed very happy. Everybody began to look for the Missouri canary and finally located Sawyer pran... on the coaching line with ... ears a foot high and ... cap for a tail.

WHITE SOX WIN IN TENTH INNING

Defeat Merchants by Rally In Eighth, Timely Hits In Final Frame

The mighty left arm of "Lefty" Thomas, former Coast leaguer, stood him in good stead for seven innings yesterday, but in the eighth the old horse laid down, and when the fireworks ended, the White Sox, who, up to the eighth, had been trailing by a 7-to-1 score, had pushed across six runs, enough to knot the count, and then finally won the game in the tenth. The final score was Sox, 8; Pasadena Merchants, 7.

With the exception of the third inning, the pale hose were helpless before Lefty's crossfire, but they had sweet revenge in the eighth frame. Thornton, U. S. C. hurler, who performed for the Sox, pitched fair ball until the eighth, but, after his team mates tied the score he tightened up and held the Merchants safe for the remaining two innings that it took to decide the issue.

A total of twenty-three hits marked the encounter, of which the visitors gathered ten and the town boys thirteen. Gomes, Dorman, Stradley, Sawyer and Birkland led the attack, gathering two hits each. G. Haas and Faunen were the heaviest sluggers for the Merchants. Dorman, flashy left fielder of the Sox, gathered a double and a triple.

Visitors Score First

The Merchants started off by scoring one in the first and one in the second. The Sox attempted to even the count, but their best efforts produced only a single marker in the third. The visitors came back with two in the fourth and, for good measure, added three more in the eighth. It certainly looked like the ball game.

But Sawyer has been preaching fight to his youngsters, and they fell on Lefty Thomas like a ton of brick, and by scoring six in their half of ... eighth managed ...

3677 IN SPORTS AT U. C. REPORT

While You Hear of Only Half Dozen, Thousands Are Pacemakers

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Bill Blewett, Jack Witter and other athletes of the Blue and Gold, whose names adorn the sport page, are not the only students engaged in athletic activities at the University of California

To be exact, 3,677 men students took part in athletics last year at Berkeley. This is the total from 4,651 males at the university.

Football, crew, track, tennis, golf, baseball, basketball, wrestling, and handball are among the sports in vogue at the big school But these are not all. Tumbling, fencing, soccer, boxing and jiujitsu are recognized forms of athletics, too, and there are also hockey, gymnastics and life-saving.

Many Out for Track

Track ranks highest at Berkeley in major sports in the number participating. More than 350 men are practicing daily on the California oval.

Baseball claims more than 170 students and tennis draws more than 150 in the intercollegiate rolls.

Interclass sports are led by football, while baseball with more than 400 participating is out in front among inter-fraternity athletics

Efforts to stimulate more interest in crew have been successful at California. Carroll Wright, the Blue and Gold's new coach, has a big list of men out and is rapidly perfecting the famous system of the late Coach Conibear of the University of Washington.

California, however, is conceded only an outside chance against the Washingtonians in the annual boat race on April 12. In spite of a big howl from the north, Washington is believed to have another winning shell this season.

Lauren Upson of Sacramento is the latest athletic hero at Berkeley. He recently won the state intercollegiate golf title.

A California freshman named Clymer is doing the 80-yard dash in eight and two-fifths seconds.

Olympic Try-Outs

PORTLAND, Oregon, March 17. Definite recommendation has been made to the American Olympic games committee to hold the Pacific Northwest Olympic try-outs in conjunction with the Pacific Coast and Northwest Intercollegiate track and field meet at Eugene, Oregon, May 30-31.

MEUSEL SHOWS UP

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—Bob Meusel, last of the world's champions to report for training, appeared today for his first workout of the season with the New York Yankees. Earl Combs, expensive Louisville recruit, is working hard for Meusel's regular job.

SEEK ANOTHER WIN

TAMPA, Fla., March 17.—Flushed with an unbroken string of victories in the exhibition games to date, Manager Harris pointed his Nationals this week at the Giants. The Senators are anxious to take on McGraw's men.

Churches, schools, theatres and parks will be on top of business buildings of the future, say experts who have investigated the crowded conditions of cities.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Richard, the Lion-Hearted," with Wallace Beery in the famous role he created for "Robin Hood," continues at the Glendale theatre, where it has met with overwhelming success. The picture is a Frank Woods production.. The story is taken from "The Talisman," by Sir Walter Scott.

The production inaugurates something new in the motion picture world. Although it is a complete narrative in itself, it supplies a gap in the story of "Robin Hood," which proved a sensation and shattered attendance records in every section of the country. Combined with Douglas Fairbanks' picture it presents a comprehensive record of that historical period when King Richard left England on the Third Crusade.

THE GATEWAY

"Sporting Youth," a Universal feature with Reginald Denny and Laura La Plante in the principal roles, now showing at the Gateway theatre, is a fast-moving comedy-drama of auto racing ... romance.

The story was written by Byron Morgan, whose tale ... the roaring road, published ... Saturday Evening Post, arrested the attention of enthusiastic ... tion.

The race is the climax. Everything works up to it and you have a feeling it's going to be good. The preceding footage of the film has a smoothness, an air of quality that presages a thrilling finish. And what a finish! This picture should make theatre box offices realize first class results.

Gates, confessed slayer of Richard H. ... would-be gland robber, ... occurred here last Saturday.

"I cannot anticipate that the newspapers will print any false news about Cordell," said Judge Allen in denying the petition.

BALDNESS—No. IV.

The fir three days of last eek we ha rticles on baldness. you are ted, will you ease get th back papers? We ven't these rticles in form to rd out fr my office yet.

As baldn is the result of ndruff in 90 percent of the ses, accor to some authori- es, and as dandruff is such a mmon affliction, I think I had tter review a little on how to event it today:

There is a normal scaling of e scalp skin and perhaps a rmal accumulation of oil scales ery day. If these normal ac- mulations are cleaned off in ch a manner that the scalp is mulated and kept active, dan- uff to the stage of disease will t occur.

This daily cleansing is best ac- mplished by (1) thorough ushing of the scalp and hair; pulling the hair by running e fingers through on the scalp d then closing them tightly on e hair; (3) massage with the ger tips to loosen the scalp sue. This treatment, combined th the shampoos with a mild ampoo soap once a week or ce every two weeks (depending on the quickness with which hair becomes oily) should ep the scalp clean and well urished. If there is dandruff, tments or lotions containing tiseptics have to be applied. I d you about those in the ar- les I wrote for you on dandruff. f children are taught the im- rtance of daily cleansing and ex- ise of the scalp in the manner have described, as fervently as y are taught the importance of tri- or bi-daily cleansing of teeth, they are going to avoid ldness and thin hair in later e. If you haven't been in the bit of caring for your scalp, gin today.

I told you in previous papers at the medical name for bald- ss is alopecia (pronounced al- pe-si-ah), and that the main rieties of alopecia are A. Con- ntia, Symptomatica, A. Prema- ra, A. Areata and A. Senilis. e discussed the rare condition A. Congenita and the less rare ndition of A. Symptomatica. at leaves the A. Senilis, A. Pre- atura, and A. Areata to be con- ered.

Alopecia Prematura—

A. Prematura is, as the name plies, a baldness that comes maturely, or before it would rmally be expected. There are o types, A. Prematura Idiopath- and A. Prematura Sympto- tic. The term symptomatic in- ates that the premature bald- s is a symptom of some known disorder, either general or local, and the treatment must be directed accordingly.

The term idiopathica is derived from the Greek words idio and patho (idio—one's own self, and patho—disease, and the word is used in connection with any diseased conditions, the causes of which are unknown but which apparently arise from some condition in the patient. (We are not using the term idiopathica in medicine so frequently as the science of medicine advances.

A. Pre. Idiopathica—

A. Pre. Idiopathica arises without any evident disease of the scalp or disorder of the general health. It usually begins between the ages of 25 and 35, but many begin earlier. There is a progressive thinning of the hair, although absolute baldness may not be manifest for many years. This is the form of baldness which is credited to heredity, for it is often found that most of the men in the family for generations have grown bald early. However, as I told you before, I believe that inheritance has been the scapegoat too long for neglect of the scalp.

There is no doubt that proper care of the scalp, such as I have outlined, will prevent this premature baldness. Prevention is highly important, for with this idiopathic type of premature baldness—as with the baldness that comes during and after middle age—once the hair is gone, it is gone forever and all the king's horses and all the king's men can't grow hair in dead follicles again.

In a later paper, however, I'll give you a remedy you can try. Don't expose your scalp to direct sunlight—it causes baldness rather than the reverse, so some of the authorities on the subject contend.

Tomorrow—Alopecia Areata.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

PLAN SCHOOL FOR BRIDEGROOMS

First Graduates Will Go To June Brides

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—April 1 a little group of serious thinkers will be let in on What a Young Man Should Know—in Brooklyn.

The fact that the Great Disclosures begin on All Fools' Day is not altogether beside the point.

At the Central Y. M. C. A. a six weeks' course of lectures on marriage has been planned to turn blind bachelors into happy bridegrooms. Six weeks, ending May 15, will leave students still time to get married to some of the 1924 June brides.

Matrimony will be inspected from all angles—benefits and pitfalls, delights and dangers, cooking and the freedom of the cash drawer, darning versus dancing, mending and mah-jong, getting rid of the domestic three R's: rats, roaches and relatives.

Carroll M. Gibney, director of educational activities, hasn't yet selected a matrimonial mentor; though he has, so he admits, thought of nothing else for the last year and a half but of how nice it would be for young men to hear a few lectures before marriage as well as after. Gibney, married himself, plans to have all the pre-matrimonial lectures given by the same person, just like post-matrimonial ones.

"No human undertaking is more important than marriage. And none is entered with so little preparation," he says.

Philosophy of life. Home and environment. Companionship and life questions. Marriage and the new horizon. Economic, physical and psychological considerations. Buying home or renting. Insurance. Human relations in married life.

The relatives. The finances. Social privileges and obligations. The child and its place. Parent privileges and responsibilities.

The unhappy marriage. The happy home.

"Love at first sight is O. K. Man knows it is a mystery, but he knows when he has found it."

Mr. Gibney goes on:

"When discoverers first see gold, they know they've found gold.

"But they must test it to see if they want to make coin out of it."

Pretty thought, eh, what?

We recall only dimly something about not prying where the apple reddens, "lest we lose our Edens, you and I." And hope that whether bank does not really matter.

FACE AND BATH POWDERS

Lately I have received a great many letters from readers asking for formulas for bath powders. Now to be of any value a bath powder should be cooling, soothing and refreshing. If it has any antiseptic properties it is even more valuable because it forms a protection against the germs with which we are hourly in contact. Here is an excellent formula.

Boric acid powder....2 ounces
Starch.....8 ounces

This can be the ordinary cooking starch or finely powdered starch bought at a drug store. It is particularly good for neutralizing unpleasant perspiration odors which sometimes persist on an active skin even after a bath. If instead of starch you substitute talcum you will have a very good face powder.

A slightly more elaborate formula is: Boric acid powder, one ounce; talcum, 4 ounces. Ordinary corn starch, such as I have described, is an ideal base for bath powders, for it has a silk fineness which is very soothing to the skin. It does not cling very well, therefore is not a very good complexion powder. Generally I suggest that my readers purchase face powder ready made instead of trying to make it. However, if you wish to do so ask your druggist for rich starch. You will probably be buying potato starch, but it doesn't matter. It is finer than corn starch and clings better, and it is the base of all good powders. Perfume this with sachet, or else put a few drops of perfumed oil in the bottom of your powder bowl and keep it covered. The perfume will permeate all the powder in the bowl. Add a little powdered rouge if you wish a flesh tint, brunette rouge if you are dark, light rouge if you are blonde.

Brown Eyes:—With a height of five feet, six inches, at 14 years of age, you are not in need of any diet for reducing. Do not eat too much candy or other indigestible foods between meals, as they will spoil your skin. As to your cheeks being too plump, I think this only shows that you are growing up, perhaps a bit unevenly. A few more years will show results and you should become a very good looking young woman. Do not bother now about the way you are developing.

Dorothy:—Advice to "Brown Eyes" applies to you also. The other girls whom you admire are merely developing in a different way from you.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Timely Views on World Topics

"OUR PEOPLE HAVE BECOME POISONED MORALLY," SAYS GOV. PINCHOT.

"The most necessary thing I know of is moral health. If a human soul isn't clean it cannot be trusted with the solution of any social problems. This is equally true of a community, and the fact is that our people have been poisoned morally, in many great communities today, so that they have lost respect for law. Until we cure that condition—and it can be cured—there is little hope of our being able to attend to the great tasks which need attention," so said Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania in a recent interview.

G. PINCHOT

"I am a believer in Prohibition, but the question of Prohibition enforcement is much more important than the question of Prohibition. Prohibition is the law. It is in the Constitution of the United States. Yet it is not only not in force in many communities, but its enforcement is not looked upon as of any vital importance. Officers charged with its enforcement are proving faithless to their trust. Prosecutors are listless. Even Judges are becoming known as 'wet' and 'dry.' When men sitting on the bench are known to take a friendly attitude toward crime, what attitude toward law can we expect from the average citizen?"

GOLD BANK IS SOLUTION OF GERMAN CURRENCY PROBLEM, SAYS SCHACHT, AGREEING WITH EXPERTS

Praising the "great objective earnestness and tireless working strength" of the American and Allied reparations experts as well as their "urgent wish to find a sensible solution of the whole confused complex," Dr. Wilhelm Schacht, President of the German Reichbank, said the experts quite automatically agreed with his own plans of a gold bank.

"Germany can not come to a definite gold currency by its own strength and efforts," he said. "I therefore directed my first-line efforts to making the dead foreign exchange capital both at home and abroad serviceable to the gold bank. In this connection I did not have the intention of creating a currency bank which would directly put money into circulation. In my project there was no idea of exchanging paper marks and retenmarks for gold bank notes.

"To keep this bank and its capital free from political influence, etc., gold capital must be deposited abroad. The capital of this gold bank could be made serviceable either by credits abroad or the issuance of notes, certificates, etc., against foreign exchange or first-class commercial paper. It was not purposed, for instance, to give out these gold notes for paying wages or the purchase of goods or materials.

"Definite rehabilitation of the German currency, such as experts have in mind, can naturally be brought about only by international action in raising the requisite gold. It speaks for the business-like objectivity of the experts that for this ultimate currency they have in mind a number of safety measures for guaranteeing the independence of the bank from political influence both at home and abroad.

"Insofar as this bank projected by the experts is to be made serviceable to the technical tasks o the reparation program, above a in connection with the raisin mobilizing and moving of sun in furtherance of a definite solu tion of the reparations problem foreign co-operation can quite naturally be rejected by us. On the other hand, the experts have full understanding that the bank must remain under the jurisdiction of German bank leadership."

Now turn all into aluminum molds (or any kind) which you have rinsed out in cold water and not dried. Set in a cool place for several hours, to solidify. In order to turn the Spanish cream out of the molds successfully (and it is the same for any gelatine dessert) dip the molds up to their rims in hot water for an instant; this melts a film of gelatine where the dessert lies next the mold, thus letting the dessert slip out of the mold easily. (Note: If you wish to mold this dessert in one large receptacle, use one and three-fourths tablespoons of gelatine instead of the one and one-half tablespoons called for above.)

Apple Muffins: Cream together one-fourth cup of butter and six tablespoons of granulated sugar; add one beaten egg. Now sift together two cups of ordinary bread flour, three teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt and add to this dry mixture two cups of chopped raw apple. Add this flour-and-apple mixture to the first mixture alternately with three-quarters of a cup of sweet milk. Turn into greased muffin pans and slip into a moderate oven to bake for 30 minutes. Serve hot.

EAGLE ROCK

APPROVE PAVING, START WORK SOON

Expect to Complete Laying Concrete and Asphalt In Four Months

Glassell avenue and Avenue 45 will be paved within four months, according to K. W. Hunt, representing Eagle Rock on the governing body of the Los Angeles Realty board, who states that a petition for paving these highways has been approved by the Los Angeles City Council.

The petition calls for concrete paving of both sides of Glassell avenue, from the former Eagle Rock city limits to York boulevard, and for asphalt paving on the west side of Glassell avenue from York boulevard to Verdugo road. Avenue 45 is also to be paved to Ellenwood drive, and up Ellenwood drive to the former Eagle Rock city boundary line. Notices will be posted within thirty days, the actual work to begin shortly after, according to Mr. Hunt.

"The petition for a storm sewer to catch the flood waters from Ellenwood drive and Eagle Rock boulevard has also been granted," he says, "and notices for this improvement will be posted shortly. An assessment district has been established for both undertakings, and proceedings are to be under way in the very near future, it is stated.

"The Eagle Rock Realty board has devoted much effort toward securing the signatures for this petition and we feel that the final success is a matter for congratulation, as Glassell avenue forms one of the most convenient approaches to Eagle Rock from Los Angeles and is expected to greatly increase the development in the district to the south of Eagle Rock."

interest was quite keen among the performers, and Glendale must give them a packed house. or as far as the Legion is concerned, forever refrain from again asking their assistance in any benefit performance.

"We have a show that is worth at least five dollars. In Los Angeles if this program were being given that we have arranged, people would fight for admission at ten dollars. Yet we are giving the show in its entirety for one dollar, with reserved seats fifty cents extra.

"The committee has worked hard on this proposition in lining up the program, and it now remains to sell the idea to the public. All that is necessary is to let them know who is going to be there and what is to be done with the money, and a capacity house is assured."

All members of the Legion present were supplied with tickets and personal sales will be made by them. Tickets are also on sale at booths run by the ladies of the local auxiliary at Webb's and Pendroy's. These tickets, with an additional fifty cents may be exchanged for reserved seats at the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway; Roberts & Echols, 102 East Broadway; and Bryan and Campbell, 225 South Brand.

An intensive ticket selling campaign is to be waged today and tomorrow by members of the Legion and the auxiliary. "Wolf," the famous war dog, was in town this noon aiding in the publicity work incident to the performance."

Evening News Features Read 'Goose Stuffing'
Too Many Movements
Safe and Sane Governor

By Gil A. Cowan

Daily The Glendale Evening News is bombarded with opportunities to buy feature material for its pages. The fact is, we have better women's page, magazine and local features than nine out of ten daily papers coming to our attention.

Local poets supply us with rhyme sufficient in quantity and quality to suffice the need, we believe. In sporting humor F. A. Graham is turning out "Rumors. Denials and Alibis" as well as "Graham Crackers," which are as clever lines as one would wish to read.

Professor Xavius Zantippe and his machinations give food for thought to both politicians, scientists and others. It is written by a member of The Evening News staff. W. B. Kirk's travel letters, the Sunset club, Old Timer, and other local features, combine to give this newspaper a flavor all of its own.

At the same time Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, Edna Kent Forbes, Laura Kirkman, Mrs. W. F. Thompson, Edwina, and a score more, contribute other features found in the largest newspapers of the country. Tell your friends about the many good things in The Glendale Evening News.

In the last week's issue of The Saturday Evening Post there was an article on "Goose Stuffing" in which the various propaganda agencies are exposed. It is wel worth reading, for the American public is awakening to the fact that all sorts of "benefactors" have found it pays to use propaganda for any purpose in which they may make a living. There are too many "movements," "peace societies," "reformers" and "relief administrators" in America. Let's scrap a few and save the difference.

A tribute is paid Governor Friend W. Richardson in the following editorial from the Petaluma Argus:

"Governor Richardson is like the safety valve of a steam engine. In times of stress he just sits tight, let's the steam blow off, and, with a foresight that is positively uncanny, does the right thing at the right moment. He never gets excited about anything. He never loses his head. He is slow to move, but when he does move he moves in the right direction. During the recent foot and mouth disease flurry, Governor Richardson was the coolest man in the state. He realized the seriousness of the situation, but he did not get excited about it. He moved with the utmost deliberation and stood ready to put the resources of the state at the disposal of the officials in charge of the work of eradicating the disease, with the result that the crisis was soon passed, and there is a near return to normal. If this state ever had a safe and sane governor, she has one in Governor Richardson.

Truck Drives One Auto Into Car Ahead; Passenger Slightly Injured

During the period of heavy traffic on Colorado street at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, H. E. Whitney, of 2224 110th avenue, Los Angeles, driving a truck for the Pacific Planing Mill of Santa Monica, drove his machine into the rear of a car driven by Roy Woodard of Los Angeles, with sufficient force to send it into the machine ahead driven by A. C. Sundberg, 2704 Nome street, Los Angeles.

W. J. Hunter, 642 South Evergreen street, Los Angeles, was slightly hurt in the melee, suffering minor bruises and cuts.

Cyclist Injured

E. E. Hitchcock, 1229 South Glendale avenue, reported to the police Saturday night that a young man on a motorcycle, whose identity he was unable to learn, had crashed into his car while he was making the turn east onto Park avenue from San Fernando road, and smashed the motorcycle quite badly.

The rider injured his leg, but was removed from the scene of the accident by friends without Mr. Hitchcock getting his name, he said.

Two Cars Crash

A call from the filling station at the corner of Grand View avenue and San Fernando road sent the police there in a hurry at 11 o'clock last night where they found that two cars, driven by Mike Macario, 1306 San Fernando road, and Harry Fowler, of Van Nuys, had been in an accident.

No one was injured in the crash, and the two men were taken to police headquarters where they made out accident reports and were allowed to go.

LA CRESCENTA

ATTEND COUNTRY CLUB'S OPENING

Foothill Residents Present At Brilliant Function Saturday Night

Probably the most brilliant social function of the season was the opening of the Oakmont Country club, on Saturday night. The occasion was celebrated by an informal dinner dance which was limited to members and one guest each.

La Crescenta and Montrose were well represented by twenty-eight of the valley residents, twenty-six of whom were seated at one table. An interesting fact is that the La Crescenta Valley table was the only table having twenty-six guests, the next largest table had eighteen covers. The following well-known people were present from this community: Mesdames M. S. Collins, in blue velvet and lace; Tillinghast, yellow and black crepe; Agnes Telfer, flame colored velvet; G. Carson, green crepe; H. Bruce, black crepe; H. Haruing, black velvet; T. Belanger, pink crepe; C. A. Haskins, yellow crepe beaded in crystal; E. Anderson, white pleated cepe; Mary B. Darrow, silver brocaded in petunia velvet; T. O. Polts, grey crepe beaded with steel; W. C. Kaune, Alice blue crepe, beaded; A. Anawalt, blue crepe; K. Johnson, black velvet, and T. S. Brown, black lace. Those of the sterner sex present were: Mark S. Collins, C. Tillinghast, G. Carson, H. Bruce, H. Harding, Theo. Belanger, C. A. Haskins, Fred Anderson, T. O. Potts, W. C. Kaune, A. Anawalt, K. Johnson and Thomas S. Brown.

After enjoying the dinner dance, after-dinner speeches and other entertainment provided for the members by the management, the La Crescenta Valley group motored up to the Woman's club dance at the La Crescenta school auditorium.

New Seelig Store

The old grocery store at the corner of Michigan and Los Angeles avenues on the southeast corner is practically demolished, being destroyed to make way for an up-to-date store building which has been leased to Sam Seelig for a period of ten years. This practically is the nucleus of a new business centre.

On Wednesday of this week the regular weekly spiritual healing meeting will be conducted by Dr. Renison of Eagle Rock. Mrs. Seymour Thomas has very kindly opened her home for the occasion. The Guild members will meet at 1:30 p. m. to prepare garments for the Alaskan missionary box, while the meeting will open at 3 p. m. and visitors are cordially invited to attend. If interested in the missionary work the Guild would enjoy having them join the sewing circle also. Mrs. Thomas resides on North Rosemont avenue above Michigan avenue at Cuddle Doon.

Another main artery through this valley will be provided, with the opening and paving of the north side of Montrose avenue, work on which has been started. This will open the district between Ocean View and Pennsylvania avenue. The pavement will parallel the street car tracks and will relieve a great deal of the heavy traffic on Michigan and Honolulu avenues.

A local man has been notified of the county's acceptance on his bids for crushed stone for this work. The stone will come from the Onadarka crusher, which is operated by Homer Balridge.

St. Patrick's Dance

The St. Patrick dance given by the Woman's club with Mrs. Harvey Bissel as hostess was a very pretty affair. The overhead lights were dimmed with delicate green hangings, huge shamrocks decorated the walls of the hall, groups of artistically arranged flowers adorned the stage, while the attractively decorated refreshment table had bowls of freesias and ferns. Those assisting the hostess, who was attired in a dainty green frock, were: Mesdames Rose Nettleton, T. Benito, S. Bertrand. Exceptionally fine music was furnished by Patrick's orchestra of Los Angeles. The proceeds go to the building fund of the club.

The special revival services of the La Crescenta Community church were begun yesterday. Opening with the morning service Rev. Frank Miller and Rev. H. H. MacArthur were in charge. Rev. Miller has written many articles of great interest and is not only a fine singer, but plays his own accompaniments on his small portable organ. These services will be held each night till Easter, opening at 7:30 o'clock. All are most cordially invited to attend. Dr. Miller's sermon on Sunday evening was "How to Pray." Yesterday's services were exceptionally well attended.

The Ladies' Service league held their election of officers at the church parlors on Friday. Those elected to hold office during the coming year were: President, Miss Amy McMurtry; vice-president, Mrs. Suyden; secretary, Mrs. Alba Burt; treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Potter. March 26 is the date set for the annual Congregational meeting, with a dinner at 6:30 p. m., after which election of trustees, elders and the church officers will take place.

Loyalty Most Important Word, Says Princeton Professor

Believing that the quality of loyalty is indispensable, Princeton professors have selected the word, "Loyalty" as the most important in the English language. We may not agree that any word or attribute can thus be segregated and called "the most important," but we all do know that loyalty is a very necessary quality in all our relations.

These advertisers have been striving for many months to stress the importance of the word and the attribute of loyalty in the community. They do not go so far as the Princeton professors and say that it is the most important thing in community development, but they do say it is one of the great essentials.

Some think of loyalty as a feeling only, but it is more than mere allegiance. Loyalty leads one to do something more than allegiance can demand. We may do homage in thought, we may express our allegiance in words but real loyalty can be interpreted in deeds alone.

All of us who live in the community go to make up the community, and so community loyalty is, after all, only being loyal to ourselves and to our town.

Community loyalty, while not blind to the defects of the community, does not consist in criticisms that will give the community a bad name in other localities, but it means quietly putting the shoulder to the wheel to help right the wrongs and encourage those who are trying to do their duty.

Community loyalty means encouraging every community enterprise and helping as far as possible to make a success of worth-while community plans.

Community loyalty means spending our money in the community stores, not with the thought of helping the individual merchant, but knowing that every penny spent in Glendale goes to make the community richer.

Glendale citizens are, to a great extent, loyal to the community. Glendale could never have reached her present enviable situation otherwise. When EVERY citizen comes to understand the relation that loyalty to the community bears to the growth of the community, then Glendale will have reached her heights.

OXY'S PRESIDENT REPORTS ON TRIP

Study of School Buildings Helps to Determine Dormitory Plans

President R. D. Bird, head of Occidental College, and his party, have returned from the north. They left about two weeks ago on an extended trip up the coast as far as Oregon for the purpose of studying other buildings before proceeding with the plans for the new $400,000 women's dormitory, the gift of Dr. William Meade Orr as a memorial to his wife. Dr. Bird spoke to the students yesterday and reported the results of the trip.

The committee traveled all over the northern part of California and looked over the colleges and universities in that part of the state. The trip was successful in that the party discovered what they considered the mistakes that others have made and will know how to avoid them in the Oxy structure. Many valuable ideas were obtained. Stanford University and the University of California at Berkeley were also visited. These two institutions, President Bird says, speak well of Occidental, and the attitude of the educational leaders of the state is all that can be desired.

To Dedicate Library

Announcement was made that Dr. William Meade Orr of Alhambra, has authorized the improvement of the grounds around the new Mary Clapp Memorial Library. This beautiful building will be formally dedicated and presented to the Occidental College on Friday, April 25, which is Founders Day at the Tiger institution. The library is practically finished except for a few touches on the interior.

Many shrubs, plants, and trees are to be planted on the ground around this new addition to the campus. The trees and other plants which were placed out last year are progressing rapidly and the entire campus is looking much better.

OPEN SALES AND SERVICE STUDIO

Pasadena Furniture Co. Offers Buyers Better Values Here

In accordance with their policy of rendering service in every way possible the Pasadena Furniture company is bringing to their customers in Glendale a means of better communication through the opening of a sales studio at 400 South Brand Boulevard, corner of East Elk and Brand, with Frank L. Fay in charge.

The history of this enterprising company is one of rapid growth over a remarkably short period of time.

The unique services of this organization in furnishing homes are not restricted to any particular locality. Some of the finest homes from Santa Barbara to San Bernardino show the masterly ability of this concern to achieve artistic results in the furnishing and decorating of various types of residences. Therefore it is not surprising that one of their best recommendations is to be found in the fact that a large part of their large volume of business comes from Los Angeles itself.

Service In Demand

The demand in Glendale for their particular type of service and the need to be in close touch with their customers while executing a commission make the establishment of a local studio a practical necessity.

The main establishment in Pasadena has grown to be a metropolitan store in a location that makes for low overhead expense. Other sales studios are located in Alhambra, Long Beach and Los Angeles, usually in a location in proximity to the residential section of the city. The local Brand Boulevard studio is easily accessible and has plenty of parking space adjacent.

Part of the firm's service to its customers is the making of lower prices by reason of its location and large buying facilities. There is no doubt that many Glendale patrons will avail themselves of this sales and service convenience.

Four Burglaries Are Reported to Police

Glendale's crop of week-end burglaries was verl light during the past forty-eight hours, but four being reported to the police. In each case the loss reported was small. Entrance was gained by forcing a back screen and window.

The following homes were entered: Mrs. F. H. Waller, 343 West Broadway; John Akers, 376 West Salem street; A. Skagland, 465 West Myrtle street, and Ralph Anchini, 409 Salem street. Mrs. Waller is to furnish the police a list of missing articles today. Mr. Akers reported nothing missing, and all missing at the Anchine home was a Remington automatic gun.

New Wholesale Paper House for Glendale

Recognizing the many advantages offered by Glendale in way of wholesale facilities, the West Coast Paper company, after carefully looking the territory over, decided that this city was the most advantageous point in which to locate and have opened their business at 237 North Glendale avenue, with a full line of all kind of paper, paper bags, notions etc.

The new company is owned and operated by D. T. Mason and C. E. Jacks, both of whom were formerly in the wholesale business in Wichita, Kansas, having had years of experience, and, like hosts of others are doing, disposed of their business interests back there, and came out here to take advantage of the wonderful climate and business opportunities that southern California offers. The retail merchants of this territory will no doubt appreciate the fact that they can have their orders taken care of promptly by this new concern.

LITTLE THEATRE PLANS TO STAGE 'MICE AND MEN'

Four Act Play Selected by Director Sturgis for First Offering

Glendale's first Little Theatre Player's production under the auspices of the drama department of Community Service with Mrs. Max Green as chairman, will be given Thursday and Friday nights, March 20 and 21 in the auditorium of the Harvard High school.

Granville Sturgis is the director and he has a splendid cast of Glendale people to work with in presenting the comedy drama "Mice and Men" by Madeline Ryley.

The action of the play is presented in four acts, the setting being an English country home at the time of the American revolution.

Bachelor's Theories

The theme of the story is built around the ideas of a bachelor and philosopher, Mark Embury, who decides to adopt a young girl from an orphanage and bring her up after his own ideas of making a proper wife. He believes that a woman should not only be schooled in the finer arts of life but should also understand the masculine side, that she should be fearless and strong, know how to shoe a horse and understand the rudiments of advanced arithmetic.

His friend and neighbor, Mr. Goodlake, is one of the sponsors of the venture. He employs a housekeeper and makes his arrangements whereby he can comply with the rules of an orphanage so that he can keep a young girl in his home.

Love Element Enters

The intrigue of the play develops in the fact that Mr. Embury's nephew, Capt. Lovell, has fallen in love with Mrs. Goodlake and for this reason Mr. Embury sends Capt. Lovell into an Irish regiment for a couple of years hoping that he will forget the affair.

"In the meanwhile Peggy, the orphan, is growing up and has greatly changed the ideas and manner of living of Mr. Embury. She has no knowledge of the fact that he expects to make her his wife, until the return of Capt. Lovell from Ireland.

At this time Mr. Embury tells his nephew of his plans for Peggy and he in turn finds that he is in love with Peggy. Realizing that he must not declare himself he decided to still be good friends with Peggy.

Mrs. Goodlake has not forgotten her affair with Capt. Lovell and expects to renew things on the old basis. They meet at a masquerade where Peggy had gone unknown to her guardian, under the protection of Kit Barniger, the dancing master. Capt. Lovell spurns Mrs. Goodlake's advances and tries to explain matters, when Mr. Embury and Mr. Goodlake appear upon the scene.

Plans Are Changed

Later Mr. Embury discovers that Peggy and Capt. Lovell are really in love with one another and feeling that youth should marry youth he changes his plans and turns over the house, which he has just finished for himself and Peggy to them for their future home. Wishing them much happiness he decides that "The best laid plans of mice and men aft gang aglee."
